STOLL FIELD — McLEAN STADIUM

Much confusion among the general public and the sports-writing fraternity apparently exists over a seeming duplication of titles in referring to the University of Kentucky's football setup along "Avenue of Champions."

Officially, by action of the University Board of Trustees, the general area encompassing the playing field is known as "Stoll Field." Likewise, by authority of the same body, the stadium proper is known as "McLean Stadium."

Kentucky's first football field, occupying the general site of what is now the practice field west of the stadium, was first given a name when it was dedicated on October 14, 1916, as Stoll Field in honor of the late Judge Richard C. Stoll, prominent alumnus, trustee and benefactor of the University of Kentucky. Soon after the first sections of the present concrete stadium were completed on September 4, 1924, the new field site and stadium were likewise officially known as Stoll Field.

The first attraction to be held on the new Stoll Field was a football game with the University of Louisville on October 4, 1924. A gridiron clash between Kentucky and the then-powerful Centre College team was the first game played in the fully-completed stadium on November 1, 1924.

The later reference to the concrete stands as "McLean Stadium" has existed since November 1, 1924, when the stadium was officially dedicated in memory of Price Innes McLean and a bronze plaque placed in the south stands by the Class of 1925. McLean, regular center on the 1923 Kentucky football squad, died November 7, 1923, as the result of injuries sustained in the U.K.-Cincinnati game played in the Queen City the afternoon before.

Major expansions of McLean Stadium in 1948, 1949, and this past season have resulted in a current over-all seating capacity of approximately 37,500. The latest construction installed 3,655 new permanent box seats at a cost of $115,000 and increased capacity by 1,629.

New practice facilities also have been prepared for the football Wildcats on the University farm. As part of a $320,000 sports center, the varsity and freshman gridgers this fall will practice on an area equivalent to five football fields in size. Along with the new field, they will have space in a large new dressing room building—making a facility recognized as one of the best in the nation.

The former practice lot and dressing room building, off Rose Street, were abandoned this spring to make way for a new men's dormitory.

"Avenue of Champions" came into being in the spring of 1950 as an honorary title for the stretch of Euclid Avenue running between the University's $4,000,000 Memorial Coliseum and McLean Stadium. The street was officially re-named by the City of Lexington in recognition of the UK athletic teams' unprecedented success of 1950 in annexing the Southeastern Conference titles in both football and basketball and their national championships in the Sugar Bowl grid game and the NCAA basketball tournament.

HONORS COME LATELY

From its football beginnings in 1881 through 1942, Kentucky had only one player named to a recognized All-America team. In the short span of years since, no less than seven have earned first team mention on the national honor rolls and four of the stars were repeaters. Sixteen Wildcats have received All-Conference recognition since the loop was organized in 1933.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

BERNIE A. SHIVELY

Supervising the steady growth and balanced development of one of the nation's top athletic programs is the Herculean task being carried out successfully by Bernie A. Shively.

Few who have observed the untiring efforts of the tall, silver-haired former All-America footballer in the service of the University of Kentucky since 1927 and as Director of Athletics since 1938 will argue his fitness as an athletic Hercules. Not only has Shively guided the development of Kentucky as a nationally-respected power in major sports, but he has also gained personal prestige through a fair-minded approach to many problems.

During his tenure as Athletic Director, Shively has directly supervised major expansions in Kentucky's athletic plant resulting from the progression of the school's football and basketball teams to greater national prominence and increased patronage by the sports-minded public.

The seating capacity of Kentucky's football stadium, McLean Stadium on Stoll Field, has been doubled to bring the current number of seats to approximately 37,500 and on par with most other schools located in heavier-populated areas. Powerful lighting equipment also was installed during the 1948-49 construction to bring night football into new popularity. Partly to satisfy the overwhelming number of basketball devotees, who could not squeeze into the 2,800-seat Alumni Gymnasium, a long-planned Memorial Coliseum was completed in 1950. Seating 11,500 persons for cage contests, the four-million dollar Coliseum also houses the Athletic Department.

More recently, Shively directed the acquisition of a pair of modern, ranch-style living units which have served as the home of the football team since 1954. "Wildcat Manor" and "Kitten Lodge" replace three frame houses which the gridders had occupied since 1949.

A large dressing room building and football practice field, used since 1955, was abandoned last spring to make way for a huge new men's dorm to be built by the University. Under Shively's supervision, a spacious new Sports Center has been prepared a short distance away on the University farm to take even better care of the footballers and spring sports teams.

All-America Guard At Illinois

A native of Paris, Ill., Shively attended the University of Illinois where he was an All-America guard in 1926 on the same grid team made famous by Red Grange. Demonstrating a claim to being one of the finest all-around athletes in Illinois' history, "Shive" also laid claim to the Big 10 heavyweight wrestling championship and annexed letters in track before graduating in 1927.

Shively came to Kentucky in 1927 as line coach of football under Harry Gammage and six years later was named head of the UK Physical Education Department. He succeeded Chet Wynne as Athletic Director in 1938. During this period and the years following, he also served as track and baseball coach for several seasons and continued to assist the football staff as line coach until 1944. The next year, 1945, he assumed full charge of the grid squad for one season before turning the job over to mentor Paul (Bear) Bryant in 1946.

The Kentucky Athletic Director served as chairman of the Southeastern Conference basketball committee for a number of years and for the past six years has been president of the SEC Coaches and Athletic Directors Association. Currently, he is a member of the NCAA Basketball Tournament Committee and serves as chairman of the NCAA Summer Baseball Committee. He also has been active in numerous state and civic organizations and projects, including present direction of the county recreation board. For several years he was Supervisor of Officials for the Ohio Valley Conference.

Shively and his wife, Ruth, have two children. Doug was a star end on the UK grid team for three years ending in 1958 while daughter Suzanne, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of UK in 1957, is attending Edinburgh University in Scotland.

BLANTON COLLIER

Head Football Coach

(Five Years — Won 27, Lost 21, Tied 2)

A quiet-mannered native Kentuckian who is widely regarded at all levels of the game as one of football's most brilliant tacticians and finest gentlemen, Blanton Long Collier is a man of unique background and the personification of a patient, thorough teacher.

With only five years in the collegiate coaching ranks behind him, the popular Wildcat mentor might be considered a novice to the uninformed. But to his fellow mentors throughout the country, who know the facts of his background and football philosophy, he is held in the highest respect and already has been accorded "Coach of the Year" honor in the tough Southeastern Conference.

A great many, both in the profession and out, feel that Kentucky is fortunate to have the services of one of the keenest minds in the grid sport who needs only a few more "tools of the trade" (outstanding players) to boost the Wildcats to the top. Although his first five Kentucky elevens have not reached the Southeastern Conference throne room or taken part in post-season bowl activity, both University officials and the "Man In The Street" are solidly behind Collier and the program he directs with hard-working efficiency. Illustrative of this confidence is the new contract that the coach was awarded following the 1958 campaign, extending his services to Feb. 1, 1965.

When Collier gave up the security of his position as backfield coach and chief aide to fabulous Paul Brown of the perennial world pro champion Cleveland Browns to take over the reins at his home-state university in 1954, he fulfilled a life-long ambition and climaxed a unique rise in the coaching game. He became a college coach for the first time after nearly a quarter-century in the profession of tutoring football.

Born in Millersburg, Ky., July 2, 1906, and brought up in Paris, Ky., only 17 miles from the University campus, Collier began his athletic career at Paris High School by playing both football and basketball. Later at Georgetown College, he lettered in both sports. Although not an outstanding gridder because of his lack of size (he weighed only 125 pounds then), he nevertheless was regarded as a close student of the game and, upon graduation in 1927, was named coach of all sports at Paris High.

He held this position until he entered the Navy in 1943. During 16 years in the schoolboy coaching ranks, his teams won or shared two Central Kentucky Conference football titles and six basketball championships. His last high school grid team (1943) ranked as unofficial state champions. Also during this period he took postgraduate work at the University of Kentucky and received a master's degree in educational administration in 1942.

It was while he was stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station during his Navy tour that Collier and Paul Brown discovered each other. Brown, a lieutenant and head coach of the Great Lakes football team, became impressed with Yoeman Collier's football knowledge and added him to the staff as an assistant coach. The following year (1946) when the Cleveland Browns were organized with Brown as head coach, Collier made the unique jump from high school ranks (via service ball) to the pros by going along as backfield coach.

During eight seasons with the perennial world champion Browns, Collier made a reputation that stamped him as a great teacher of football—determined but quietly patient. His special function as number one aide to Brown was pass defense and the club consistently ranked tops in the league in this department.

Enters College Ranks In 1954 As UK Coach

When the Kentucky job became available in 1954 with the transfer of Paul Bryant to Texas A & M, Collier was lured into collegiate ranks for the first time in nearly a quarter-century of coaching experience.

Given a three-year contract, Collier launched an immediate attack based on his version of the Split T offense and spiced with a generous helping of gridiron fundamentals and stress on perfection in play execution.

The results came almost immediately as the Wildcats, after an erratic start that saw a 2-3 split in the first five encounters, forged a victory string of five straight from mid-season and capped it with a win over arch-rival Tennessee in the rain at Knoxville. The Kentuckians were in bowl contention all the way as they wound up with a 7-3 record for the 1954 campaign.

Coach Collier was rewarded by grateful school officials with a new five-year contract and fellow mentors of the Southeastern Conference voted him "SEC Coach of the Year." In gaining this honor in his "freshman" season at UK, an achievement made all the more noteworthy considering that it was the first time the title had been bestowed on a coach in his initial year of college tutoring, Collier climaxed a unique rise in the game.

The 1955 campaign was virtually a repetition of the previous year. In carving out a 6-3-1 mark, Collier could point with pride to the fact that his men registered a win over Ole Miss, the only setback suffered by the eventual SEC and Cotton Bowl champs, and a second straight triumph over Powerful Tennessee that eliminated the Vols from bowl contention and again boosted the Wildcats' stock for a post-season date.

In 1956, Kentucky slipped to sixth place on a record of six wins and four defeats and in 1957 hit rock bottom in the conference standings as the result of only three victories in 10 starts against some of the South's toughest grid powers. But there was some solace to be gained in the knowledge that impartial observers classed the '56 record as remarkable in view of personnel problems and praised the 1957 outfit, which wound up in a blaze of glory by upsetting Tennessee for the third time in four years, as "probably the nation's best non-winning team." Another point of pride in the luckless '57 record was the Wildcats' near upset of eventual national champion Auburn, who needed a key penalty and questionable help at the goal line to eke out a 6-0 win on their home ground.

Last year, the Colliermen were beset by injuries and another "killer" schedule that might easily have proven chaotic to a less determined coach and team. The 5-4-1 record posted as the Wildcats began to claw their way to the top was highlighted by a surprise triumph over Georgia Tech, another "scare" of Auburn and an amazing fourth win in the last five years over Tennessee.

Coincidental with his success on the football field, Collier has gained increasingly wide popularity and respect throughout the state and nation. Relations with Kentucky high school coaches are at an all-time high and the Wildcat mentor is constantly in demand as an authoritative lecturer at coaching clinics all over the country. In the summer of 1957, he went overseas for the Army and Air Force to conduct clinics for armed services personnel in Japan and Hawaii. He also served as head coach of the Grays in the Blue-Gray Game last December and previously assisted on the East coaching staff two straight years (1956-57) for the annual Shrine East-West Game at San Francisco as well as the 1955 Christian Bowl game.

Collier married Miss Mary Forman Varden of Paris in 1931 and they have three daughters—Carolyn, Kay and Jane.

THE COACHING STAFF

ERMAL ALLEN

(Kentucky '42)

Backfield Coach

One of Kentucky's most famous athlete graduates, Allen, at 38 has had a full career as a collegiate star, pro-football player and successful college grid coach. He starred at quarterback for the Wildcat forces from 1939 to 1941 and entered military service following graduation. Returning as a graduate student after his discharge, Allen became the center of one of the Southeastern Conference's most controversial cases when he attempted to play a fourth year of football in 1946 and was declared ineligible after two games. Allen joined the UK coaching staff of Paul Bryant for the remainder of the '46 season, spent the '47 campaign as a T-quarterback with the professional Cleveland Browns, whose backfield coach at this time was Blanton Collier, and then re-joined the Wildcat staff in 1948. He became Kentucky's head freshman mentor in 1950 and was promoted at season's end to backfield coach. Allen was retained in this capacity when Collier became head man of the Wildcats and now also is chief aide in charge of defense. In the off season, he plays a lot of golf and copped the state amateur championship in 1955 and 1958. The mentally-sharp Allen holds a master's degree. Hometown: Morristown, Tenn.

BILL ARNSPARGER

(Miami (O.) '50)

Offensive Line Coach

One of Coach Collier's former grid pupils at Paris (Ky.) High School and a native Kentuckian, Arnsparger joined the UK staff in 1954 as an assistant in charge of offensive line play. The 30-year-old former Marine brought to the staff an excellent background of coaching experience which began at Miami (Ohio) U. following his graduation from that school in '50. In 1951, he moved with boss Woody Hayes to Ohio State where he was tackle coach in charge of offensive line play for three seasons. Arnsparger played at tackle and guard on Collier's teams at Paris High from 1941-43 and entered UK as a freshman in '44. His tour of duty in the Marines began shortly thereafter and he transferred to Miami U. after his discharge to play under Sid Gillman and later Hayes. Like his current boss, Bill has his master's degree. Hometown: Paris, Ky.

JOHN NORTH

(Vanderbilt '48)

Offensive Backfield Coach

A former star flankman at Vanderbilt, John North joined the Kentucky coaching staff in the spring of 1956 as Freshman Coach after a full career as collegian, pro player, high school and college coach. The 37-year-old Tennessee native was in the Vanderbilt camp for the 1941 and 1942 seasons before entering military service during World War II. He served three years in the Marines, attaining the grade of sergeant, and upon his release returned to Vandy to play out his remaining years of eligibility in 1946-47. Despite shot-up legs from Marine battles in the South Pacific, he earned second string All-SEC honors and went on to play end two years for the Baltimore Colts. He started his coaching career at a high school in Tallahassee, Ala., in 1951 and three seasons later became line coach at Tennessee Tech, a job he held for the two campaigns immediately preceding his transfer to Kentucky. After guiding the Kentucky freshmen to two straight undefeated seasons, John moved up to varsity end coach and this spring changed duties to take over offensive backfield operations. North holds a master's degree from Peabody College in Nashville. Hometown: Old Hickory, Tenn.

DON SHULA

(John Carroll '51)

Offensive Backfield Coach

A seven-year National Football League veteran and one of the nation's outstanding young coaches, Don Shula joined the Kentucky staff last February after one year at University of Virginia. The 29-year-old native of Painesville, Ohio, got his start in big-time football with the Cleveland Browns in 1951, playing halfback under the coaching of Blanton Collier who was then the Browns' backfield tutor. After a two-year stint, Shula was with the Baltimore Colts for four seasons (1952-56) and terminated his professional football career with the Washington Redskins in 1957. He was a four-sport star at Painesville's Harvey High School, but turned his attention exclusively to football at Cleveland's John Carroll University and won All-Ohio honors in 1950 to climax three outstanding seasons. Shula earned his master's degree from Western Reserve University in 1954. Hometown: Painesville, Ohio.

HOWARD SCHNELLENBERGER

End Coach

A former University of Kentucky All-America flankman and professional football standout, Howard Schnellenberger entered the collegiate coaching field for the first time as he joined the staff of his ex-mentor, Blanton Collier, early this year. Howie, who prepped at Louisville Flaget High and climaxed a brilliant career by becoming Collier's first All-American in 1955, played both offensive and defensive end with the Hamilton Tiger Cats in the Canadian League in 1956. From late that year until August, 1958, he was in service at the Ft. Knox (Ky.) Infantry Training Center and played the '57 season with the service team that won the Second Army championship. Following his discharge, Schnellenberger reported to Vancouver and saw action during the '58 season with the Lions. The 25-year-old native Kentuckian, who also captained the '55 Wildcats and starred in the post-season Blue-Gray Game, will work with the ends on both offense and defense. In addition, he will serve as "scholastic coach." Hometown: Louisville, Ky.

BOB CUMMINGS

Defensive Line Coach

Boasting the unusual feat of playing collegiate ball at two SEC schools—Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech—plus 13 years' coaching experience, 37-year-old Bob Cummings was appointed to the Kentucky staff last February. He lettered as a varsity center at Vandy in 1942 and a year later, upon entering the Marines, was sent to Georgia Tech under the Navy V-12 program and played on Tech's SEC and Sugar Bowl championship team of that season. After service duty, he returned to Nashville and joined the Isaac Litton High School grid staff in 1946. By mid-season, Bob took over as head coach and remained for eight years, meanwhile continuing his schooling at Vanderbilt and obtaining a Mechanical Engineering degree in 1948. He added a Master's degree in mathematics from Peabody College in '52. Moving into the college field, Cummings was with Tennessee Tech for spring practice in 1954 and then became line coach at Vandy later that year. After three seasons, he joined the coaching staff at Georgia Tech in 1957 as B team coach and chief scout. Hometown: Portland, Tenn.

ED RUTLEDGE

(Western Ky. '41)

Head Freshman Coach and Scout

Promoted in 1958 to the post of Head Freshman Coach and chief scout, Rutledge attended Western Kentucky State College and he played end for three seasons prior to graduation in 1941. He spent the next six and one-half years as a Navy pilot and rose to the rank of Lt. Commander during service in the Panama Canal area. Rutledge also starred in 1941 on the Pensacola NAS football squad recognized as the all-service champion of the USA. The 40-year-old Ohio native has a coaching background that includes a short stint as an assistant at Ironton, Ohio, and Bowling Green (Ky.) High as well as experience as athletic officer of the Naval Air Technical Training Center at Memphis. He also served seven months in 1948 as a special agent of the FBI. Rutledge became coach at Danville (Ky.) High after the 1952 campaign and in his second season the undefeated Admirals claimed the Kentucky schoolboy grid crown. Coach Collier brought him to UK in the spring of 1956 as Freshman Backfield Coach and made him head coach of the Kittens two years later. He holds a master's degree and calls Ironton, Ohio, his hometown.

NORM DEEB

(Eastern Ky. '47)

Experienced in both high school-prep school and collegiate coaching, 36-year-old Norm Deeb was added to the Collier staff last July 1 and assigned duties as line coach of the freshman team. Virtually all of Deeb's 10 years in the coaching profession have been in Kentucky high school ranks. He was head coach at Bellevue High in 1956 and 1957, posting a record of 13 wins against six losses. Prior to this, he served as line coach at Shelbyville High for five years. Deeb also was line coach at Bullis Prep School in Maryland from 1949 to 1951, a period during which the service academy preparatory school won the mythical National Prep School Championship in the Beach Bowl at Daytona Beach, Fla. His last coaching assignment was at Xavier University in Cincinnati, where he coached the line during the 1958 season. After an interruption of 42 months' Army duty, much of it in Italy, he graduated from Eastern Kentucky State College in 1947. He played tackle for the Maroons. Hometown: Louisville, Ky.

J. R. SHANNON

(Kentucky '59)

Recruiting Assistant

A former Georgetown (Ky.) College star halfback and University of Kentucky's freshman baseball coach for four seasons, J. R. (Abe) Shannon last summer was assigned added duties as an assistant football coach in charge of recruiting. In the position, which most of Kentucky's Southeastern Conference rivals have had for several years, the 46-year-old Shannon will assist Coach Collier in lining up top schoolboy athletes for future UK elevens. He also continues as freshman baseball coach. Abe attended high school in Georgetown and was an All-Conference halfback two seasons as well as an all-sports standout. Later, at Georgetown College, he captained the freshman grid squad and operated as a regular halfback during his varsity years. After several years as a professional baseball umpire in the minor leagues and one year as a manager with the now-defunct Lexington Colts (Class C), Shannon returned to Georgetown High as baseball coach for the 1955 season. In 1956, he joined the UK staff as freshman baseball mentor and his teams compiled a 35-9 record in four years. Continuing his oft-interrupted education, he obtained his bachelor's degree from UK this past spring. Hometown: Georgetown, Ky.

COLLIER GOES FROM SINGLE WING TO MULTIPLE T IN 26 YEARS' COACHING

Collier's football philosophy has varied little during more than 25 years of coaching experience. During his high school days at Paris, he taught the Single Wing system and didn't change over to the T formation until he was coaching the quarterbacks at Great Lakes during the war. He first gained experience with the "T" as a spectator during his boot camp training at Bainbridge, Md., and later while observing the pro Philadelphia Eagles of Greasy Neale. During his tenure as backfield tutor of the Cleveland Browns, he stressed the straight or "back-up" T formation. At Kentucky, he chose to utilize the Split T and plans to stick with the system this season with minor variations that make it a Multiple T now. He considers himself basically a running coach and attempts to keep a 60-40 balance in favor of the ground attack.

KENTUCKY'S COLORS

The blue and white of the University of Kentucky are known to sports fans everywhere. Officially the colors are Yale blue and white, but in the beginning, when the Lexington institution was still known as the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky, the colors were "Stoll blue" and white. One day back in the 1890's a group of Kentucky football stalwarts met to choose their school colors. Someone suggested blue and white—"blue like Dick Stoll's necktie"—and those colors were immediately adopted. "Dick" Stoll was to become Judge Richard C. Stoll, distinguished public servant and, for more than fifty years before his death, a member of the U.K. board of trustees.

KENTUCKY FOOTBALL OUTLOOK — 1959

There'll be a "new look" in Kentucky football in '59.

Not only will the Wildcats present a new face in the form of a promising crop of 32 rookies replacing 12 departed letter winners, but Head Coach Blanton Collier has decreed a new unit system of operations in an effort to get the greatest possible mileage out of his Multiple T offense and rugged defense.

The system, somewhat similar to that used by Louisiana State in its parade to the national championship last season, calls for the organization of the team into separate units to be called—in Kentucky's case—combination and defense. The combination team is designed to include those players most capable of playing both ways while the other is a specialty unit made up of men who are best as defensive operatives. In spring practice, Collier experimented with a three-unit plan—adding a offensive specialist team to the organization. However, he now plans to go with an 18-22 man combination unit and a defensive unit.

As Coach Collier sees the system, made possible by the new relaxed substitution rules and the promise of sufficient numbers for the first time, the advantages are that it will allow more effective use of a player's potentialities, provide more rest and hence allow his men to work harder while in the game. He also figures it will give more men a chance to play and the coaches a better idea of what some younger boys can do plus creating better morale stemming from the fact that more men will be "first stringers." While each player will be assigned to a specific unit, there is due to be a lot of switching between the various teams and some players likely will see service on both units.

Coaching staff changes have added five new faces in the ranks of assistants, replacing four departed aides, and brought in some new thoughts, but Coach Collier intends to stick with the Multiple T offense that carried the Wildcats to a 5-4-1 record last season despite hard luck on injuries and a "killer" schedule. New on the Kentucky staff are Bob Cummings, formerly of Georgia Tech; Don Shula, at Virginia last season; ex-Wildcat All-America end Howard Schnellenberger; veteran high school coach Norm Deeb and J. R. (Abe) Shannon, who will serve as a special recruiting assistant. Collier himself received a "vote of confidence" since last season in the form of a contract extension to 1965.

Major obstacles standing in the way of a good season for the Wildcats in 1959 are fast development of adequate depth—particularly in the line and at fullback—and avoidance of injuries that proved so costly a year ago.

With 55 per cent of his prospective squad made up of raw rookies and only 20 experienced operatives available for assignment, the necessity for speed in bringing around number two men at most positions is all too obvious. "You can't win consistently in this league with just 11 good men," Collier points out. "It takes at least two good teams and, you don't have enough experience, you better bring some younger boys around fast."

Although he hesitates to even think about it, the Wildcat chief obviously is concerned over injuries—past and future. Regular quarterback Lowell Hughes missed spring work due to a knee operation to correct an injury received in the Auburn game last year, but it is hoped he will be ready in time for the season opener.

On the brighter side of the picture, Coach Collier looks to better overall balance, ability and experience-wise, and greater versatility by the upcoming team. More than the presence of a handful of outstanding individuals, he is impressed with the promise of a large number of less experienced hands. It's hard to make a distinction between line and backfield and say one is better than the other, but most of the experts like the looks of the ball carrying combo as a unit.

Backfield Includes 'Sophomore of Year'

Leading this pack is 1958 Southeastern Conference "Sophomore of the Year" Calvin Bird, a fleet footed youngster who led the league in pass receiving (21 for 373 yards and 4 TD's) and stood a close second in scoring with 65 points last season. Bird will see duty at left half in the spot held down in '58 by Glenn Shaw. The power-packed Shaw, tenth best ball carrier in the SEC last season, was shifted in spring workouts to fill the vacated fullback position. Teaming up with this duo and taking over for graduated ground gaining leader Bobby Cravens at right half will be junior Charley Sturgeon. Handling the quarterback chores will be Hughes, a senior, and cohort Jerry Eisaman, a red-shirt junior. Both completed over 50 per cent of their tosses last year to rank near the top in conference passing.

In the line, where four of the six starters and nine of 12 lettermen were lost, the standouts among veterans are Bob Talamini, considered by Collier to be one of the South's finest guards; end Dickie Mueller, an All-SEC Soph team pick last year and unanimous pre-season All-Conference choice for '59; tackle George Boone; and guard Jimmy Johns. All four were starters last season and appear on the number one unit again, but on different platoons.

Top new faces are likely to be brilliant Lloyd Hodge, a promising soph fullback last year who looked terrific in the new position of line-backing center this spring; Irvin Goode, a rookie center who shapes up at a rugged 6-5 and 215 and showed great potential in spring practice; and Bill Ransdell, consistently impressive sophomore quarterback-halfback.

Passing was one of the '58 team's strong points as they stood third in the SEC aerial statistics and seems destined again to become the main offensive forte with both of last season's top arms, Hughes and Eisaman, returning along with ace receivers Bird and Mueller.

The ground attack was hurt by the graduation of top ground gainer Cravens (4.2 average on 441 yards in 104 carries), but Coach Collier is hopeful that improvement from within the ranks will offset losses. Big guns should be halfbacks Bird and Sturgeon, fullback Shaw.

The biggest obstacle facing the Colliermen in their quest for a good season, however, may be another man-killing schedule. Perhaps even more significant than the overall power of the opponents is the difficult arrangement that sees the Wildcats called on to face four of the nation's top teams before mid-season. Kentucky meets perennially-powerful Georgia Tech and Ole Miss' Gator Bowl champs in the first two weeks and then, after stepping outside the tough Southeastern for a match with Detroit, faces undefeated Auburn and National Champion Louisiana State to climax the initial half of their campaign. Rounding out the season, UK meets Georgia, Miami (Fla.), Vanderbilt, Xavier (Ohio) and Tennessee.

ORIGIN OF "WILDCATS" NICKNAME

Kentucky's athletic teams are known to sports fans as the Wildcats. This first and only nickname borne by University varsities had its origin in 1909 in a speech made by Commandant Carbusier, then head of the military department of old State College. Speaking to a chapel audience of students on the showing of the Kentucky football team in defeating Illinois six to two, the Commandant declared "they fought like Wildcats." The tag was popularized by word of mouth and by the press with the result that it has since become synonymous with all major Kentucky athletic teams.

While the name is old in origin, no claim is made regarding precedence over similar nicknames boasted by Northwestern, Villanova and about 10 other major athletic teams.

An alumnus in 1947 presented a live Kentucky Wildcat to SUKY, student pep organization. Named "The Colonel," the cat served as a live mascot for UK teams until his death in 1955. The current mascot is a stuffed wildcat obtained from a Brooklyn taxidermist just before the 1958 football season and named "Tucky."

PASS HEARD 'ROUND THE NATION

A single running pass play by Mississippi State in the fading moments of a game on Stoll Field in 1955 not only cost Kentucky a victory, but proved to be even more important when the statistical filberts added up. If the Maroons had failed to complete the 83-yard, desperation aerial, the Wildcats probably would have led the nation's colleges in pass defense that season. Taking away that one play would have meant a per-game average of 39.6 yards allowed opponents via the airwaves, which would have topped the top mark posted by Florida (42.0). As it was, UK finished sixth in the nation with a 47.9 average.

Although Head Coach Blanton Collier did not receive his initial college degree from University of Kentucky, he nevertheless might rightfully be called the Wildcats' third alumnus coach. He was awarded a master's degree in educational administration by the University in 1942. Only other graduates of U.K. later to take up head football coaching duties at their alma mater were J. White Guyn (1906-08) and A. D. Kirwan (1938-44).

SERIES HISTORY: Although Kentucky and Georgia Tech first met on the gridiron in 1923, only 16 meetings are recorded in the series due to a couple of lengthy gaps in an otherwise generally-consistent rivalry. The series stands at nine wins to seven and one tie in favor of the Yellow Jackets, but UK's record in recent years against one of the nation's foremost grid powers is surprisingly good. Notable Wildcat victories are a 28-14 upset handed Tech in a 1950 meeting at Atlanta and an equally-surprising, 13-6 stinger plucked out of the 1954 game, also at Atlanta. The former proved an important stepping stone in Kentucky's successful bid for a first SEC title and invitation to the Sugar Bowl. Three years ago, the two teams clashed before the live TV cameras in the NCAA's "Game of the Week." Tech took a 14-6 decision in that first nationally televised encounter ever videoed out of Stoll Field.

LAST MEETING: The Yellow Jackets ran into a stone wall defense at Lexington last season and came off second best in a 13-0 showdown that ranked as one of the Kentuckians' top efforts of the 1958 season. Tech's highly regarded offense, which never penetrated closer than the 24, could manage only 120 yards on the ground and was limited to a paltry 25 yards via the air waves while the Colliermen triggered two spectacular scoring drives. Bobby Cravens, missing this year, exploded for 153 yards on 20 carries to pace the UK attack.

1959 OUTLOOK: Despite an ambitious schedule which should cause veteran mentor Bobby Dodd some sleepless nights, Georgia Tech is being picked to be stinging at the heels of the obvious Southeastern Conference contenders with a better ball club than the eighth place outfit of last season. Chief reasons for optimism regarding improvement on their 5-4-1 record of a year ago are relatively light losses (13 lettermen) and better depth to be provided by a bevy of outstanding sophomores plus the usual fine stable of redshirt material. The annual Birmingham News poll picked the Yellow Jackets to finish fourth in the conference behind the "Big Three"—LSU, Auburn and Ole Miss. Tech's SEC schedule is pretty well spaced and they meet only one (Auburn) of the top contenders. Dodd likely will use a two-team system and again plans to employ the belly series as his basic offense. Top operatives include halfback Floyd Faucette, end Gerry Burch and center Maxie Baughan. In short, the Georgians should have their problems straightened out and look like the Tech of old.

SERIES HISTORY: A strange sequence of upsets and near-upsets flavors the comparatively-young, but colorful rivalry between the Wildcats and Ole Miss. In the fifteen meetings since the series was inaugurated in 1944, neither club had been able to win more than two successive games to gain a distinctive edge in the battling until last year. The Wildcats got the series off to an auspicious start by winning the first game, but the men of Coach Johnny Vaught came right back to take the decision in three out of the next four meetings. But it was in 1949 that the fireworks started. Kentucky claimed a 47-0 advantage in overcoming an underdog role and starting on the road to big-time football prominence. Since then, the Kentucky game has proved the "make or break" situation for the Rebels' season and upsets have been in the category of "a dime a dozen." The 1954 meeting in Memphis was a penalty-marred spectacle resulting in several new conference records on yardage walked off for violations. In 1955, Kentucky added new fire to the "beat the favorite" series history by upending the defending SEC champions in Lexington. The 21-14 setback was the only blemish on the Rebs' record as they waltzed to a second straight SEC title and Cotton Bowl win. Ole Miss got its revenge by recording wins in the next three meetings.

LAST MEETING: For the second frustrating year, the experts had to search deeper than the mere score to understand the outcome of Kentucky-Ole Miss battling. Two years before, UK had bottled up the Rebs with a superb defense for three periods and saw their own admirable offensive drives stalled just shy of TD territory. Last season at Memphis, few could believe the statistics that revealed Kentucky had outgained Mississippi in total offense, 408 to 253, when the score read 27-6 in the Rebs' favor at the end. Fumbles, mental errors and costly penalties stopped the 'Cats 13 of the 15 times they had possession and offset otherwise good offensive football.

1959 OUTLOOK: With 26 bowl-tested operatives returning and bolstered by a very promising group of sophs, Ole Miss should be experienced, deep, strong and improved over 1958. The Rebs are being touted by pre-season forecasts as one of the SEC's "Big Three" and a distinct threat to title aspirations of LSU and Auburn. One magazine even put the finger on Johnny Vaught's crew as the potential national titlist. The Gator Bowl champs, 9-2 last season, could be just that good as reports indicate an unusual absence of blues singing by Coach Vaught following spring workouts. Picked behind LSU and Auburn in the annual Birmingham News pre-season poll, Ole Miss' league card is well spaced with the showdown battle against LSU not slated until after mid season and no match with Auburn scheduled. Top personnel include Bobby Franklin, voted the probable top passer in the league; a great fullback in Charlie Flowers; and highly-touted Marvin Terrell at right guard. Mississippi will use the Split-T and Winged-T with multiple extras and likely will expand aerial operations this season.

SERIES HISTORY: Kentucky and Detroit have never met on the gridiron before. However, the two schools have had athletic relations previously with Detroit winning a 1938 basketball encounter there and UK taking tennis and golf meetings in 1940 and 1953. The grid Wildcats have visited Michigan three times previously—losing to Michigan at Ann Arbor in 1908 and splitting with Michigan State in 1945 and 1947 at East Lansing.

LAST MEETING: No previous game.

1959 OUTLOOK: Detroit will have the problems of adjusting to a new coach and a new style of attack in '59, but otherwise the picture looks rosy with losses light and hopes justifiably very high. New headmaster Jim Miller, former defensive line coach at Purdue, has taken over from five-year-man Wally Fromhart and inherited a fine nucleus of 18 lettermen. The new coach reportedly has decreed a change in the Titans' offensive formation from the Wing T, one of the new trends which was installed at Detroit last year, to the Straight T in order to make the best possible use of his personnel. Although there exists something of a problem at quarterback and the aerial game may not be functioning smoothly until it is worked out, the Titans have their leading ball carrier of last year back in the fold and the running attack should be one of their main fortes. Bruce Mahar, a first team Catholic All-America selection in '58, already drafted by the Detroit Lions, posted a 4.5 rushing average on 127 trips with the pigskin. He also paced UD in scoring, pass receiving, kickoff and punt returns. Running mates to the fleet Maher in the backfield likely will be Ray Davis at the other halfback post and Jerry Leszczynski at fullback, who saw only limited action last season. Coach Miller lists a lack of experienced depth in his line, but only left end will be without last year's starter. Probably the biggest and best operative in the forward wall will be massive tackle John Dings, a 230-pound senior tabbed for future play with the Lions. Past performances also peg end Tom Chapman, captain-elect of the Detroit eleven; tackle Grady Alderman; and center Ernie Fritsch as men to watch. The Kentucky game appears as the high point on the Titans' schedule and, catching the Wildcats between Ole Miss and Auburn, it could easily develop into an interesting affair.

SERIES HISTORY: Former Southeastern Conference football “doormats” Kentucky and Auburn first got together on the gridiron at Lexington in 1934, the year after the league was organized, and played another game the following season at Montgomery before interrupting their series for nearly two decades. Each held a victory out of the early meetings and the 1954 scrap, which resumed the rivalry, resulted in a 21-14 decision in the Wildcats’ favor. Tilts between the new-found grid powers the past four seasons have been fraught with frustration as neither could boast of decisive change in a trend to close games. The Tigers moved ahead in the series count with a hard-earned, 6-0 disputed victory over the fired-up Kentuckians at Auburn in 1957 and could post only an 8-0 win enroute to an undefeated season last year.

LAST MEETING: For the second straight year, powerful Auburn could do little to gain important national prestige at the expense of the Wildcats. Two years back, it took a disputed touchdown to beat Kentucky and, in the meeting at Lexington last season, the Tigers could manage only an 8-0 victory as the result of two mental lapses on UK's part. After holding the vaunted Plainsmen scoreless for three quarters, the Wildcats allowed little Jimmy Laster to get behind their secondary on the second play of the fourth period and take a long heave from Lloyd Nix in for a score. Later, UK's Calvin Bird (only man to score for three teams last fall) was trapped in his own end zone for a safety as he attempted to run back a punt.

1959 OUTLOOK: Possessors of the nation's longest winning streak (24 games) and national defense champions the last two years in which they have suffered only a tie at the hands of Georgia Tech, it is hard to see how Auburn could be much tougher this year. However, the experts are predicting that the Tigers will field another fine team which could be better chiefly because of expected offensive improvement. Notwithstanding admittedly serious losses in scatback Tommy Lorino, end Jerry Wilson, and southpaw quarterback Lloyd Nix, Auburn will have excellent material with experience, size, speed and ability. A 220-pound average line, anchored by All-Americans Zeke Smith at guard and center Jackie Burkett, should not weaken the defense either. Most people are figuring Auburn as a co-favorite with LSU—whom they do not meet—for the SEC title and top ten national rating. The Tigers are still on NCAA probation and cannot go to a bowl.

SERIES HISTORY: Inaugurated with a game at Baton Rouge in 1949, the Kentucky-Louisiana State grid series is the youngest rivalry within the Southeastern Conference. Nine meetings make up the series which has been played annually with the exception of the 1951 season and LSU's victories in the last two meetings have overcome a Kentucky lead to tie the low scoring rivalry at four wins apiece and a 6-6 tie in 1956. Coach Paul Dietzel, a former Kentucky aide under Paul Bryant who took over the football reins at LSU in 1955, got his career as a head coach off to an auspicious start by trouncing the Wildcats in the season opener that year which was ranked as one of the biggest shockers of the campaign. A year later, when the Tigers visited Lexington, Dietzel's darlings found the going a bit rougher and the Cats gained vengeance with a comparatively-easy, 14-point whitewash job. In 1957, UK turned in one of its poorest games to drop a 21-0 decision at Baton Rouge and absorbed a 32-7 licking at the hands of the eventual national champions last year.

LAST MEETING: Former Kentucky aide Paul Dietzel unleashed all the elements—ranging from the heat and a record crowd of 65,000 to the sensational Billy Cannon and a three-unit substitution system—to topple a dead-game band of Wildcats 32-7 at Baton Rouge last year. The contest started out as an interesting one as the visiting Kentuckians retaliated quickly and forcefully after LSU had put over its first score. At the half, UK was still very much in the game—behind only 13-7—but two quick LSU markers in the third period caused the Wildcats to wilt before constantly fresh Tiger units. Hampering Kentucky's attack was the fact that quarterback Lowell Hughes played only three and a half minutes due to an injury against Auburn and halfback Bobby Cravens also was not in top shape.

1959 OUTLOOK: The Bayou Bengals find themselves in an unusual predicament, having nowhere to go but up after a perfect season in 1958 that saw them champions of the SEC, number one in the nation and Sugar Bowl winners. Improving on that record—or even equalling it—may be a difficult assignment even with 31 of 35 lettermen back from an all-winning team. Although they lost only three starters and will expose opponents to the great Cannon for a final year, LSU could find themselves in trouble with the law of averages and pointing foes. The element of surprise, that vaulted them from a predicted ninth place finish in the conference to the top of the national heap, is gone and it could mean at least a harder road. But few of the experts are willing to guess who will beat LSU. Since they do not face Auburn, the top possibility seems to be Ole Miss. The Bengals' visit to Lexington will open defense of their SEC title and mark the second time in recent years that the Wildcats have faced the defending national champion on Stoll Field. Previously, it was Maryland in 1954.

SERIES HISTORY: Georgia and Kentucky began their rivalry on the football field with a game at Louisville on Oct. 21, 1939. The two schools met almost annually from that time until the series was broken off after the 1949 game and not resumed until 1957 with a game at Athens. Veteran Wally Butts, dean of Southeastern grid mentors, can lay claim for the Bulldog cause of a slight edge in the rivalry—Georgia having won seven of the meetings while UK has taken but four decisions and one tie (1940) has resulted. Georgia, at the height of its power in the forties, took four straight victories from the Kentuckians in those years before Wildcat football came of age. Although the last top flight club fielded by Butts was a '48 aggregation that took the SEC title and brushed aside Texas in the Orange Bowl, the Bulldogs have managed to keep their series with the Wildcats interesting. Kentucky broke a string of four straight Georgia wins with a 26-0 upset in Lexington in 1947 and repeated two years later with a 25-point shut-out enroute to a first major bowl bid. Georgia has taken lopsided decisions for the last two meetings.

LAST MEETING: Scoring three touchdowns in less than nine minutes in the closing quarter of last year's game at Athens, Georgia turned a close game (7-0) into a 28-0 rout and saddled Kentucky with its worst licking in 24 games over a three-season period. Everything the Bulldogs seemed to try was right while UK, plagued by injuries to quarterback Lowell Hughes and other key personnel, could do little right. Offensive drives fizzled out deep in Georgia territory and a leaky pass defense, particularly, thwarted efforts to stop the humiliation being imposed. The loss was Kentucky's fourth in a row and brought the series standing to seven wins for the Bulldogs and four for the Wildcats plus a tie in 1940.

1959 OUTLOOK: Georgia was slotted for a ninth place finish in the annual pre-season poll on the probable conference standings, but most experts are figuring Wally Butts' charges as definite first division material with darkhorse capabilities. The Bulldogs will field essentially the same team as last season's hard luck outfit with 23 lettermen and seven starters back. This experience added to a general belief that Georgia should have had a record more like 7-3 than 4-6 last year is being counted on to make the Bulldogs a spoiler capable of beating any team on their schedule. Coach Butts is frankly admitting the prospect of a better passing attack with capable Charley Britt on the throwing end. To replace graduated All-Conference fullback Theron Sapp, the Bulldogs will convert center Dave Lloyd to the position and concentrate their ground game hopes in halfbacks Fred Brown, rated Georgia's best breakaway runner since Charley Trippi, and Captain Don Soberdash.

SERIES HISTORY: The grid rivalry between Miami's Hurricanes and University of Kentucky dates back only to 1948 and the four games played have proven entirely profitable from the Wildcats' standpoint as they hold a 4-0 edge in the series. In the initial game at Miami in 1948, UK took a 25-5 decision. The following year, the Wildcats used a 21 to 6 walloping of the Hurricanes as a springboard to their first major bowl invitation—to the Orange Bowl where they lost a heartbreaker to Santa Clara in the 1950 renewal of the classic. The final two meetings with Miami resulted in shut-out victories as Kentucky set their rivals down, 32-0 in 1951 and 29-0 the following season. Only the 1951 game was played in Lexington.

LAST MEETING: Miami was a growing power in Southern football at the time they last faced Kentucky's Wildcats at Miami in 1952, having gone a-bowling for two straight years. Although touted as one of the toughest foes on UK's 1952 card, the Gator Bowl champion Hurricanes absorbed one of their worst lickings of the season before the home folks as Kentucky's Cotton Bowl champs annexed a 29-0 decision.

1959 OUTLOOK: Long regarded as the top major independent power in Southern grid circles, Miami floundered badly last season (2-8) and might seem to be in more trouble this year with only two starters returning and a back-breaking schedule staring them in the face. However, insiders are hopeful that the green hands and 14 lettermen will take up the burden with a zest seldom seen last season. There's also been a coaching staff shakeup by veteran Andy Gustafson and he has changed over from the "Drive Series" to a new multiple offense in which passing will play a more important part. Little Fran Curci, one of the two returning starters, will again direct operations from his quarterback post. James Otto returns to his center duties as the only line starter back. The big surprise of spring work was a sophomore, James Vollenweider, 197-pound fullback and right half. Renewal of the series is on a four-year, home and home basis with 1960 skipped due to schedule conflicts. With a 70,000-seat Orange Bowl stadium to fill, Miami has lined up a rugged schedule for the coming season and should have its hands full even with seven home dates. Top foes to be met, in addition to the Wildcats, are LSU, Auburn, Navy, Michigan State and North Carolina plus the traditional season-closing battle with University of Florida.

SERIES HISTORY: Kentucky and the Vanderbilt Commodores first got together on the gridiron way back in 1896 at Nashville and the rivalry has been perpetuated intermittently ever since with the result that it is one of the oldest in the South from the standpoint of first meeting and number of games. Only the series with Tennessee exceeds it on the UK schedule. Surprisingly, in view of the fact that Vandy's football fortunes are thought of as being at a low ebb until 1955 (they rank ninth in the SEC composite standing), the history shows a record solidly in their favor—22 wins to Kentucky's six and three ties. An indication of the Commodores' greatness of yesteryear is reflected by 12 shutouts they registered in the first 26 years of the rivalry and the fact UK did not get into the win column until 1939. However, the post-war years saw the Wildcats blossom into national prominence and the record shows only three setbacks in the past decade, one of them a 34-0 humiliation helped along by injuries four years ago at Nashville. The last three meetings in a rivalry exceeded in intenseness only by the one with Tennessee, have seen extremely close results—a one-point win for UK, a 5-point decision by Vandy and a scoreless tie.

LAST MEETING: Rain, mud and the bad luck of fumbles and pass interceptions cost the home-standing Wildcats a frustrating, scoreless tie with the bowl-hopeful Commodores last season. Three times Kentucky lost the ball on fumbles as drives fizzled out deep in Vandy territory. A final opportunity to win was offered as the Commodores were offside on the last play of the game and Pascal Benson was rushed in to try a field goal from the 30. His hurried kick of the slippery pigskin fell short.

1959 OUTLOOK: Some important gaps loom in the Vandy lineup for 1959 with such operatives as All-America guard George Deiderich and running mate Billy Grover plus nifty quarterback Boyce Smith missing among 15 departed lettermen. But there is a fine balance of material still around to establish the Commodores as a darkhorse outfit capable of repeating their fourth place SEC finish of last year. Key man in Coach Guepe's plans will be All-SEC Tom Moore, who worked at both halfback and fullback in spring practice. Ed is in excellent shape with five experienced hands headed by "Rooster" Akin. If experiments on shifting personnel work out, the weakness in the interior line could be minimized and Vandy might improve on their 5-2-3 record of '58.

SERIES HISTORY: Kentucky and its neighbor to the north of the Mason-Dixon line have met on the gridiron 15 times with the initial contest taking place in 1935 at Cincinnati and the last at Lexington a year ago. The meeting in 1956 resumed the rivalry which had been interrupted after the 1949 renewal and contracts have been inked to extend the annual games through the 1961 season. The Muskies' lone triumph in their series with the Wildcats came in 1938 as they posted a 27-6 success at Cincinnati. Kentucky has taken all the others, generally by decisive scores. A 70-0 shellacking administered by UK in '46 stands as one of the biggest point-production efforts ever seen on Stoll Field. The record high is an 83-0 debacle involving hapless North Dakota in a 1950 meeting with one of UK's greatest teams.

LAST MEETING: Muskie Coach Mick Connolly, now departed in favor of Ed Doherty, vowed before last year's meeting at Lexington that his club would set a record of sorts by scoring on Kentucky for the first time in three years. Not only was the promise kept, but UK found the Ohioans a bit difficult to handle. Playing under wraps to avoid tipping their hand to eagle-eyed Tennessee scouts, the Wildcats had to unleash a three-touchdown blitz in the first eight minutes of the final quarter and then hold off a determined Xavier to win, 20-6.

1959 OUTLOOK: The Musketeers are under the direction of a new head coach in the person of experienced Ed Doherty, ex-Boston College quarterback tutored by Frank Leahy, and could be on their way to even better days than they have already enjoyed. A big re-building job faces Doherty with only 11 lettermen returning from a team that broke even (5-5) last season. Losses include top two quarterbacks and seven other starters. Tough Ed (Jocko) Serika, already drafted by Cleveland Browns, looms as the big offensive threat at his new halfback spot while the line likely will be built around end Warren Montgomery. If Doherty develops good quarterbacking, the Muskies could be a strong threat to any team on their schedule.

SERIES HISTORY: Among the six oldest football rivalries in the South, the Kentucky-Tennessee series dates from a memorable encounter in Knoxville 66 years ago. In that meeting, Oct. 21, 1893, the Wildcats annexed a 60-0 victory to get the warfare off to an auspicious start in a fashion that hasn't been equalled in the many and colorful renewals of the traditional rivalry. Except for three war years (1917-18 and 1943), the two schools have met annually on the gridiron with the result that the Vols hold a distinct-but-fading edge of 30 wins to Kentucky's 16 and eight ties. Tennessee's sparkling advantage has become slightly tarnished in the past few seasons as Kentucky started reversing the victory trend with an upsetting tie in 1952 and ate into their polished record with successes in five of the last six meetings. The seniors on the 1955 UK squad became the first class in 43 years to graduate with the accomplishment of never playing in a game in which the Vols emerged victorious and they bowed out in a blaze of glory, triumphing to the tune of 23-0 over the bowl-hungry Vols in the most one-sided Kentucky win since 1935. Current Wildcat mentor Blanton Collier has enjoyed the greatest success of any UK coach against Tennessee, taking four decision in five tries.

Since 1925, the two schools have stimulated their grid rivalry with a rotating trophy — a battered old beer barrel. Much shenanigans on the part of the rival student bodies have added to the color of the series. Following the 1953 UK win, disgruntled Tennessee students raided the Kentucky campus and “kegnapped” the barrel and held it in a secret hiding place in Knoxville until persuaded to return it by threats of reprisal against their coon dog mascot, Smoky. In 1955, UK students visited the Tennessee campus hiding place of Smoky and “dognapped” him. UT students promptly retaliated by painting up the Kentucky campus in a surprise raid and carting away “Colonel,” UK’s stuffed wildcat mascot. A trade was engineered as an added attraction at the game and harried university officials wondered, “What next?” They didn’t have long to wait. Although mild by comparison with the more spectacular stunts of previous years, 1956 pre-game pranks saw students from both schools in painting expeditions to the other’s campus. Two seasons ago, it was fairly quiet. Last year at Knoxville, however, the stunts erupted again as Tennessee students caught a guard “napping” and slipped away with UK’s stuffed Wildcat before the game. Despite promises, the mascot was not returned until nearly four months later.

LAST MEETING: “Pennsylvania Pickpocket” Jerry Eisaman, in one of the year’s oddest plays, literally stole the ball from Tennessee fullback Carl Smith in open field to set the stage for Kentucky’s lone touchdown last year at Knoxville. The unusual action came on the Vols’ first play from scrimmage after UK had kicked off following a safety resulting from Calvin Bird’s entrapment in his own end zone. The 73-yard touchdown surge in the third period proved the deciding points as the Colliermen racked up their fourth win in five seasons.

1959 OUTLOOK: Despite the toughest schedule to face a Tennessee eleven in years, the Vols are considered a strong possibility for the tag of “most improved team in the league.” Coach Bowden Wyatt had to depend on inexperienced sophomores to a large degree last season, but they now form the nucleus of a potentially dangerous aggregation. Only fullback Carl Smith and guard Bobby Urbano will be seriously missed among 15 departed letter winners. With 21 lettermen and a crop of red-shirts back in the fold, Tennessee is definitely counting on a return to the power days of old. They were picked sixth in the pre-season poll taken by the Birmingham News. Key men in the single wing offense, which should show much improvement over its 134 yards per game average of last season, are junior tailbacks Billy Majors and Gene Etter. The line will be anchored by such operatives as 225-pound tackle Lebron Shields.

FOOTBALL WRITERS SALUTE KENTUCKY PRESS BOX

University of Kentucky's football press box on Stoll Field rates as one of the best in the country from the standpoint of both working facilities and service to writers—so says the Football Writers Association of America. The national organization in 1958 added Kentucky to an exclusive list of schools that had been cited in both categories. Up to that time, only 67 institutions had won the award for press box services and 45 for facilities since the FWA started officially honoring the nation's best press boxes and sports publicity departments (who are responsible for service) several years ago.

STOLL FIELD 'COW PASTURE' BIRTHPLACE OF DIXIE GRID SPORT

University of Kentucky's campus boasts the distinction of serving as the birth-place of Dixie football. Ironically, however, the forerunners of the present day Wildcats were not involved in the early grid contest.

The first inter-collegiate football game ever played in the South, and probably the first to take place west of the Alleghanies, came about April 9, 1880, on old Stoll Field. This gridiron, located adjacent to the present U.K. stadium and now used as a baseball field, was the site of the early tilt that saw Kentucky University (now known as Transylvania College) take the measure of Centre College, 13¾ to 0. The match, which was said to resemble a combination of soccer and rugby, followed by only six years the introduction of the game of football to the United States.

University of Kentucky (then called A & M College of Kentucky) did not play its first game until a year later on the same field, which once served as the private pasture for University President James Patterson's bovine herd.

BACKGROUND BRIEFS

ENDS

ROBERT (Bob) BUTLER—Sophomore—Madisonville, Ky.

Although he played well enough as a freshman to warrant a long look by Wildcat coaches, Butler is not likely to break into the starting lineup this fall . . . However, his tutors are counting on help from him during the forthcoming season of development . . . High school background saw him earn commendable total of 11 letters in four sports at Madisonville . . . As an outstanding end and halfback in football, he earned All-State selection and All-America mention in 1958 . . . Also leading scorer on cage team, shot put man in track and centerfielder with baseballers . . . Intercepted key pass in 1958 East-West All-Star Game . . . The 6-1, 215-pounder won his numeral as an alternate end starter with UK frosh last year . . . Enrolled in Engineering College and majoring in mathematics.

RONALD (Ronnie) CAIN—Senior—Cumberland, Ky.

The state's top prep scorer for two years while playing fullback at Cumberland High, Cain has led a life of many changes since coming to UK in 1955 . . . When he indicated on a publicity information form that he was a candidate for "Anything," coaches took him at his word and placed him at the position where they needed help most—guard . . . He played creditably at this spot through his freshman year and a red-shirt season, then was switched to end in 1957 and seems to have found a "home" . . . Although starting only one game that season, he wound up as the team's third best pass receiver and posted an action total of 140:58 in 10 games . . . Last season, Cain was a starter only against Hawaii and LSU but his dependable reserve service was reflected by fact he was named to the SEC checklist of outstanding players following the Ga. Tech and Ole Miss contests . . . Showed playing time of 204:57 . . . As the Wildcats' fastest end last year, he caught 10 aerials for 165 yards to rank 16th in the SEC and third on the team . . . With one TD catch and another score made on an unusual in-the-air fumble interception, he was fourth among UK scorers . . . A top student as well, he made a perfect 4.0 standing in Education last spring semester and a 3.2 standing for the year was second highest on the squad. . . . One of four lettermen ends and one of the best returning receivers, Cain is being counted on heavily this season . . . He was the combination unit's number one left end in spring practice and leading pass receiver for the winning Blues in Blue-White game . . . The 22-year-old senior, who now checks in at 6-0 and 210, scored 154 points as a schoolboy junior and 139 in his final high school year to lead the state and was named All-State as well as honorable mention All-Southern and All-America.

DAVID (Dave) GASH—Sophomore—Louisville, Ky.

A standout fullback and leading ground gainer for last year's Kentucky freshman grid squad, Gash now has been converted to an end and displayed considerable promise in spring work . . . Alternated most of time as number one defensive right end . . . The blond-thatched former Louisville Shawnee star fullback racked up 111 yards in the Kittens' three games last year on 24 carries . . . Longest run came in a standout effort against Vanderbilt's Baby Commodores when he reeled off a 28-yarder and scored UK's only touchdown in a 6-6 tie game . . . Also had good game against Tennessee Freshmen, picking up 109 yards in 20 carries . . . Expected to adjust well to new position and improve with experience . . . Gash, whose father is a railroad detective, won second team All-State honor in his final year at Shawnee where he was a three-sport star . . . He's 6-2, 195, enrolled in College of Education, and plans to coach.

FRANK GOETZ—Junior—Bloomfield, N. J.

Frank has experienced some difficulty in making the adjustment to collegiate ball, but could make the grade to more consistent duty this fall . . . Came to the University by way of Pottsville (Pa.) High School and Greenbrier Military Academy in 1957 with experience as an end and guard . . . Played both end and center as a UK freshman, being somewhat an oddity in the latter position since he is left-handed . . . As a reserve flankman during his sophomore campaign last season, Goetz saw only 6:26 action time but picked up valuable experience . . . German-Irish ancestry . . . Twenty-one years old, 6-1, 190 . . . Born in Philadelphia . . . Enrolled in College of Education.

RICHARD (Dickie) MUELLER—Junior—Louisville, Ky.

Regarded as one of the top flankmen in the South, Mueller was an All-Southeastern Conference Sophomore Team selection following a sensational first varsity year last fall and pre-season polls have already tabbed him as a probable All-Conference choice this year . . . The rangy junior end, who sizes up at 6-3 and 215 pounds, is called Kentucky's best flankman since All-America Howard Schnellenberger (1952-55), now the Wildcats' end coach . . . Rated by Coach Collier as the team's best defensive end and assigned to the defensive unit this spring, but likely to see considerable action in other assignments as he also is an excellent receiver and has good speed for his size . . . Probably operate on the left side where he operated regularly last season . . . Mueller started seven games in 1958 and showed a total playing time of 316:55 for action in all contests . . . Came to Kentucky in 1957 after sensational schoolboy career at Louisville St. Xavier High, where he was coached by ex-Wildcat Johnny Meihaus . . . In his final high school year, Dickie served as team captain and was chosen All-State, All-South and All-America . . . Also starred in baseball and track . . . Rated as the second best broad jumper in the state as a schoolboy and won a track letter for outstanding performance in field events with the UK cinder squad last spring . . . Coach Collier says of the 20-year-old Mueller: "He should be one of the top ends in the South. He can be just as good as he wants to be and has a good attitude that should carry him a long way." . . . Of Dutch ancestry, Mueller (pronounced Mew-ler) is studying in the College of Commerce to pursue a business career.

DONALD (Don) NUERGE—Junior—Ft. Wayne, Ind.

A strapping six-footer who weighs in at 195 pounds and looks every inch a good prospect, Nuerge is being counted on by Kentucky coaches to give a good account of himself this season . . . The former Ft. Wayne North Side High fullback-tackle was made an end in his first varsity season last year and has given every indication the move will pay off . . . Although he saw only 33:38 action time in five games during 1958 and did not gain a letter, he proved a pleasant surprise of spring training this year . . . Operated as the number one right end on the combination unit and should see much more action if he continues to improve . . . Started last spring's Blue-White intra-squad game for the winning Blues . . . Nuerge has good speed as evidenced by his running of the 220 and 440 while a member of North Side's state champion track team . . . Enrolled in College of Education.

DENNIS (Sid) SEXTON—Sophomore—Oneida, Tenn.

An alternate starter at end for the UK freshman squad last season, Sexton showed promise in spring training but likely will need more seasoning before he is ready for extensive varsity duty . . . He's a hard worker and could make the grade to top reserve status before the season is out . . . Joins teammate Don Carson, a halfback, as a representative of Oneida (Tenn.) High . . . Dennis was team captain, All-East Tennessee and second team All-State in his final schoolboy year . . . Also All-Conference in basketball . . . Alternated as number two offensive left end this spring . . . Enrolled in College of Education and plans to coach.

THOMAS (Tom) RODGERS—Junior—Madisonville, Ky.

An all-purpose man and re-juvenated end, Rodgers came a long way in 1958 and should see a lot of action this season . . . The 20-year-old Western Kentucky native, who stacks up at 6-1 and 195, made the switch to the flank position last year after playing halfback and quarterback at Madisonville High and as a UK freshman in 1957 . . . As a schoolboy, he achieved All-State, All-South and All-America honors and was team captain . . . Won total of 12 letters as a three-sport star . . . Personally accounted for the West team's 13-0 win in East-West All-Star Game as he passed for one marker and scored the other himself . . . Completed 10 out of 16 passes for 343 yards as a UK frosh quarterback . . . One of the fastest linemen on the team, he is able to cover 40 yards in less than five seconds . . . Also quick and fine defensive man . . . In 1958, he saw 238:04 action time in all games and was the right end starter in four . . . Made the SEC Checklist for outstanding play against Ga. Tech . . . Rodgers also handles extra point kicking and kickoff chores some of the time . . . Caught five aerials for an even 100 yards last season, including one 31-yard heave for a touchdown against Hawaii in his first varsity game . . . He was the number one defensive unit right end this spring . . . Enrolled in College of Education.

LEDGER HOWARD—Senior—Pineville, Ky.

One of four letterman ends available for 1959, Ledger is being counted on to lend stability to the flanks—probably on the left side where he played as a reserve last season . . . A chronic bruised shoulder caused his limited use in 1958 and his duty time totaled only 77:30 for eight games in which he appeared . . . The 6-1, 195-pound flankman came to UK in 1955 from Pineville High where he was an end and quarterback in football as well as a standout in other sports . . . He was team captain, All-Conference and second team All-State in final grid campaign . . . Tried first at quarterback as a Kentucky freshman and looked promising . . . Later, Coach Collier shifted him to halfback for a brief try before putting him at end in 1957 . . . Howard did not see action until the seventh game of the season and progressed so rapidly that he was a starter at right end in the final two contests . . . His total playing time as a sophomore was 109:04 . . . Ledger was scholastically ineligible in 1956, but now makes good grades in College of Education . . . He has good speed and could surprise.

THOMAS (Tommy) SIMPSON—Sophomore—Lebanon, Ky.

A willing worker and fine prospect, Simpson has made a near-remarkable adjustment to end duty after high school and UK freshman experience as a halfback . . . He made the switch in spring practice and at the end was holding down the number one right end post on the offensive unit . . . As a high school all-sports participant, he garnered a total of 12 letters in basketball, baseball and track in addition to football . . . He captained the Lebanon High grid squad his final year and won All-State mention as a halfback . . . Turned in a creditable job at the same position as a Kentucky yearling . . . Enrolled in College of Education with plans for pro ball or coaching.

CHARLES (Charlie) VAUGHN—Junior—Celina, Tenn.

Blessed with more inner toughness than ability, Charlie has found the road to regular duty a rough one . . . He has a great desire that could overcome this lack of outstanding talent and the keen competition . . . Vaughn is experienced with virtually all types of formations since he played the T, Single Wing, Wing T and Split T in four years at Celina High . . . Captained both his high school grid and cage teams and was an All-Conference pick in both sports . . . Tried at quarterback on the UK freshman team in 1956, but moved back to end during a red-shirt year in '57 . . . Played 24:14 in four games last season as a reserve left end . . . He's 6-1, 190 and studying agriculture.

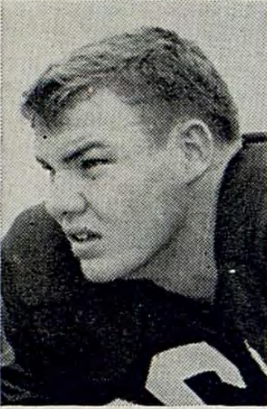

MAX (Duke) WALTON—Sophomore—Wellston, Ohio

At 6-4 and 205, Walton is the biggest target among Wildcat receivers and could see a lot of spot duty this season . . . He is labeled a good prospect and hard worker by his coaches . . . Came to Kentucky in 1958 after only two years' high school grid experience at Wellston High . . . Alternate right end starter for the Kittens last season . . . Likely to operate at the same position as a varsity man . . . Also starred in basketball in high school and led the league two years in rebounding . . . Won a numeral as a hurdler and high jumper in his first try at track with UK freshmen last spring . . . Enrolled in College of Education and plans to play pro ball or coach.

TACKLES

GEORGE BOONE—Senior—Louisville, Ky.

One of the most determined players ever to play the game at Kentucky, Boone has come a long way in his football career . . . He was a virtual unknown when he came out for the UK freshman team in 1956 without a scholarship . . . Although he had two seasons' experience in the sport at St. Joseph Prep School in Bardstown, Ky., George had never caught the eye of college scouts . . . Tried at guard, he quickly impressed UK coaches with his potential ability and great determination as he won his way to regular duty over many more publicized schoolboy stars and won a numeral . . . Coach Collier quickly put the finger on George early in his sophomore year as "the most improved player on the club" and the confidence was upheld at season's end as Boone was chosen by the Associated Press on the 1957 All-Sophomore Team . . . Continued his outstanding performance last year as a junior, starting at right tackle until a shoulder injury sidelined him the week of the Miss. State game . . . Considered out for the remainder of the season, Boone surprised again by coming back to play a great game against Tennessee in the season finale . . . In seven games, he saw 231:35 action time . . . Underwent an operation on the shoulder after spring practice . . . Coach Collier and team physicians are hopeful that Boone will be in good shape for this season . . . One of three lettermen tackles, George likely will operate as the number one left tackle on the combination unit this fall . . . Called by coaches "best defensive lineman" and the six-foot, 205 pound veteran could help tremendously . . . Enrolled in College of Education, he had the fourth highest standing for the year of anyone on the team as he posted a 3.01 (equivalent of "B" grade) in passing 28 hours.

DONALD JOSEPH (Joe) BRANDEL—Sophomore—Hamilton, Ohio

With high school experience at Hamilton (Ohio) Public as end, tackle and guard, it is not unusual that Joe should be tried at various positions as a collegian . . . He was stationed at end last year as a UK freshman and then moved over to tackle in a spring practice experiment this year . . . He alternated as the number two left tackle on the combination unit during spring work . . . Also played some on the defensive unit and this may be his best spot . . . Checks in at 6-2 and 210 . . . A brother plays for Purdue . . . Joe is married.

DAVID MICHAEL (Mike) COYLE—Sophomore—Elizabethtown, Ky.

An All-State honorable mention choice as a schoolboy guard at Elizabethtown High, Coyle was switched to a tackle in his freshman season at Kentucky last year and the response has been very satisfactory . . . Although he saw mainly relief duty as a Kitten, this spring Coyle was listed as the number one left tackle on the offensive unit . . . He is six foot and 200, enrolled in College of Education . . . Has ambitions to go on to study law.

JERRY BRISTO—Junior—Vernon, Texas

One of a pair of junior college transfers in the Kentucky football camp for 1959, Bristo comes from Cameron Junior College at Lawton, Okla., where he was a selection on the junior college All-America team last season . . . Checking in at a sizeable 6-3 and 235, the Vernon, Texas, lad should fill a big gap in the tackle picture . . . Proving that he is a "brain" off the field as well, Jerry posted a 3.4 (B plus) standing for his final semester of the two years at Cameron . . . He is married to the former Claudette Thompson of Vernon, where he received his high school education and first four years of football experience . . . Made the All-Conference and All-State teams in Texas as a schoolboy tackle and captained his junior college squad. . . . Also took part in other sports in high school . . . Plans to major in history at UK and either coach or play pro ball after graduation.

JOHN (Big John) MARTIN—Junior—Pittsburgh, Pa.

This hard-hitting youth figures prominently in plans for UK tackles after three seasons' experience . . . After making an impressive showing with the Kentucky freshman team in 1956, he showed promise but needed more seasoning and was held out for the '57 campaign . . . Although hurt in an automobile accident, along with quarterback Jerry Eisaman, in February, 1958, Martin was able to mend his wounds well enough to see 35:26 action time in six games last season as a reserve left tackle . . . He is likely to see even more duty this year, probably on the combination unit . . . Got his first grid experience at Homestead (Pa.) High . . . Also participated in basketball and track . . . Born in Wilkensburg, Pa., he is 6-3 and 215 . . . He is a Commerce student.

WAYNE (Bear) DIXON—Sophomore—Eastpoint, Ky.

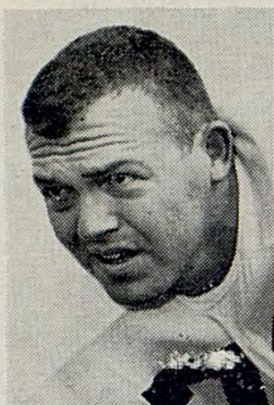

Although the only one to attend University of Kentucky, Dixon represents a family of athletes that includes both a collegiate football and basketball player . . . He achieved personal honor by picking up a total of 13 letters as a four-sport performer at Prestonsburg High . . . Tutored in football by two ex-Wildcats, John Griggs and Doc Ferrell, Dixon was an All-State third team pick at center his final year . . . Switched to tackle in his freshman season at UK last year and now rated one of the top soph prospects at the position . . . He'll probably operate at left tackle on the defensive platoon . . . Checks in at six foot and 220, shows good speed for size . . . Enrolled in Education College with plans to coach.

HARRY (Big John) JOHNSON—Sophomore—Neon, Ky.

Only intentional holdout on the 1958 Wildcat squad, Johnson could be ready to give a better account of himself this season . . . He was the starting right tackle for the UK freshmen two seasons back, but did not show enough football savvy to guarantee much action last season and was red-shirted at his own request . . . Harry is a hard-nose boy and should develop into a capable operative . . . Sizes up at 6-2 and 210 . . . He was a 12-letter man at Fleming-Neon High, winning honorable mention All-State honors twice in football and taking part in basketball, baseball and track . . . He alternated as the number two right tackle on the combination unit this spring.

ROBERT (Bob) HUNT—Junior—Richmond, Ind.

A tough man to move, the 6-2 and 220-pound Hunt has the physical equipment and strength to be one of the top linemen in the Kentucky camp this fall . . . Operated as the number one left tackle with the defensive unit this spring . . . He saw 179:25 action time as a relief man on the left side last season . . . Injuries prevented his playing in the spring intra-squad game, but he is expected to be ready for important service this fall . . . The bespectacled gridder wears contact lenses on the field. . . . Hunt was co-captain and All-State as a center-tackle on the Richmond High team that ranked as mythical Indiana schoolboy champions in 1956 . . . Twenty-one years old, he is enrolled in the Education College.

JOSEPH (J. C.) MORAJA—Sophomore—Springfield, Ky.

Classed by Kentucky coaches as one of the most promising young linemen in camp, Maraja appears capable of helping the Wildcats this season . . . He started at right tackle for the White team in the Blue-White Game this spring and showed up well despite his team's losing effort . . . Operated on both the offensive and defensive units in spring practice. . . . The 6-1, 215-pound youngster won his numeral as a frosh tackle last year . . . Prior to entering the University, Maraja played four years of football at St. Joe Prep in Bardstown, Ky., as a tackle . . . Also was an outstanding discus and shot put man in track and center on the cage squad . . . Enrolled College of Commerce.

DOUGLAS (Doug) O'BRIEN—Sophomore—South Attleboro, Mass.

Lone New England representative on the Kentucky squad, O'Brien is being counted on to play a lot of football this season and prove that hard work pays off . . . Although he did not see action in the opening game played by the UK freshmen last season, the 6-2 and 215-pound husky worked just a little harder in practice and established himself as a potential future standout with good efforts in the Kittens' next two contests . . . Attended St. Raphael Academy in Pawtucket, R.I., and Greenbrier . . . Commerce College student.

RAYMOND (Ray) SCHRECKER—Junior—Louisville, Ky.

Slow in developing, but fast afoot and long on experience, Schrecker could be a darkhorse among the tackle corps this season . . . The 6-2, 220-pound junior played end as a UK freshman in 1956, moved over to tackle at the start of his sophomore campaign and then out due to injuries . . . As a reserve last season, Ray saw 22:49 action time in four games, but should up this considerably this year . . . Picked up his grid tastes at Louisville Male High under the tutelage of ex-Wildcats Charley Kuhn and "Moon" Conde . . . Also served as co-captain and shot put-discus star on Male track team . . . Sherman Hinkebein, a cousin, was a swimming great at UK years ago . . . Studying in College of Education.

RUSSELL (Russ) STILL—Junior—Louisville, Ky.

A native of Louisville and long-time resident of the area, Still took a round-about route on his way to join the Wildcats this season . . . Russ received his high school education at Louisville Eastern High, where he played three seasons of football, and then spent another four years in the service before entering Cameron Junior College at Lawton, Okla. . . . He transfers to Kentucky this fall from that institution where he gained top junior college All-America honors last season . . . With apparently outstanding ability and good size (6-3 and 220), Still should help bolster the weak tackle position at UK . . . He also participated in virtually every other sport while at Eastern, including track, basketball, baseball, swimming, golf and tennis . . . While in service, he won the heavyweight boxing championship of the NEAC Command (Newfoundland Area) without previous experience in the sport . . . Married to the former Barbara Sue Main of Anadrako, Okla. . . . Plans to enter Arts and Sciences College at UK and play pro ball after graduation.

CULLEN (Bull) WILSON—Senior—Turkey Creek, Ky. (CO-CAPTAIN)

The unsung-but-dependable type, Cullen was honored by his teammates as co-captain of the 1959 Wildcats and can be counted on to vindicate their confidence with another season of steady good play . . . Wildcat coaches feel he could be one of the outstanding leaders in recent years due to a maturity of judgment and sound football knowledge. . . . Although not blessed with exceptional ability that catches the eye of the honor team selectors, Wilson is classed as one of the top blockers on the squad and a more than adequate defensive man . . . A durable, hard worker who can take punishment in the heaviest going and come back to dish out more than he receives, Cullen was born in Laura, Ky., but now calls the Eastern Kentucky mountain community of Turkey Creek his hometown . . . Attended high school at Belfry where he was a tackle for four years, captain of his team and honorable mention All-

State . . . Also made good grades and was a member of the National Honor Society . . . Coming to the University in 1956, he was tried at guard as a freshman and turned in a creditable job at the position in his first varsity season, playing 226:45 and starting three games despite stiff competition. . . . Last season, he was moved over to tackle to take advantage of his size and bolster a weak spot . . . As the number two man on the left side behind Bobby Lindon (also co-captain and hailing from Eastern Kentucky), he saw action in every game for a total action time of 273:32 . . . Started Mississippi State and Vanderbilt games at right tackle in place of injured George Boone . . . This spring, he continued to hold down the right side spot on the combination team . . . Started at right tackle for winning Blues in spring intra-squad game . . . Checks in at 6-2, 210 . . . Two letter man . . . Enrolled in Commerce College.

WILLIAM (Bill) SCOTT—Junior—Pikeville, Ky.

One of the biggest men on the squad, the 6-4 and 200-pound Scott is a hard hitter with above average speed considering the frame he moves around . . . Almost equally at home on offense or defense and probably will operate on the combination unit as a right tackle . . . Seems sure to see more duty than the 29:57 action time posted for four game appearances last season . . . He starred as a UK freshman two years ago, helping importantly in the squad's achievement of an undefeated season . . . As a four-year grid letterman at Pikeville High, he was captain and an All-State honorable mention selection . . . Made the All-Military honor squad in a follow-up year at Staunton Military Academy . . . Also played basketball in high school and lists golf as a hobby . . . Enrolled in College of Education and plans to coach.

FREDERICK (Fred) STIDHAM—Sophomore—Hazard, Ky.

Hailing from the Eastern Kentucky coal fields town of Hazard, Stidham is tough and capable with ambitions to prove it this season . . . He saw action in all three contests played by the Kentucky freshmen last year and was cited by his coaches as a top prospect . . . Did his best job on defense and operated on the defensive platoon in spring workouts . . . He missed the Blue-White intra-squad game at the end of spring practice due to an injury, but should be ready for any duty this season . . . The 6-3, 205-pound youngster was an All-Conference pick at tackle in three years of football at Hazard . . . Also was a catcher on school baseball team . . . Studying business administration in Commerce College.

GUARDS

MELVIN (Mel) CHANDLER—Sophomore—Corbin, Ky.

One of the most-sought schoolboy linemen in the state at the conclusion of his grid campaign at Corbin High, Chandler was impressive as a Kentucky freshman last season and is considered one of the team's top soph prospects for '59 . . . It's likely that he will be assigned to the colorful group of hard-nose football players due to make up Kentucky's defensive unit this fall . . . He alternated at the number one defensive left guard spot this spring despite a late start due to an elbow operation . . . An end and guard at Corbin High, he was team captain, All-State, All-Southern and All-American in 1957 . . . Enrolled in Education College with plans to coach.

BRUCE CROCKETT—Sophomore—Muncie, Ind.

A former Indiana All-State tackle, Crockett is now looked on as one of the top young guard prospects on the Kentucky squad . . . Hits hard and almost equally at home on offense or defense . . . He alternated at the number two right guard spot on the offensive unit in spring practice and likely will be a combination platoon member this fall . . . The 6-1, 200-pounder was an eight-letter man while attending Royerton High in Muncie, picking up four in the grid sport . . . Switched to a guard as a UK freshman last season and was alternate starter on right side . . . Enrolled in College of Education.

JEROL (Jerry) DICKERSON—Sophomore—South Point, Ohio

An all-around star athlete of South Point (Ohio) High School fame, Dickerson is a prize example of willingness to sacrifice the headlines for the good of the team . . . The six-foot, 195-pound youngster was a star half-back, captain of the team and an All-South selection as a schoolboy and turned in an outstanding job at halfback in his freshman season at UK in 1957 . . . Now, after a year's absence, he is willingly playing guard because the team cause is best served that way . . . His best other sport in high school was track, in which he was high point man and set records in the 440 and hurdles . . . Pitched for the baseball team at South Point . . . Missed this spring's Blue-White Game due to an injury, but classed as one of team's top guard prospects.

DAN (Danny) HALEY—Sophomore—Pineville, Ky.

In the five and one-half years of his football career, Haley has played just about every position there is and looks pretty good anywhere he is stationed . . . The 6-1, 195-pound youngster of Scotch-Irish descent won honorable mention on the All-State team while operating as a tackle for four years at Pineville High . . . When he came to the University in 1958, he was moved over to end and showed promise as a receiver . . . This spring, still attempting to find the right spot for him, UK coaches tried him at half-back and he spent most of spring practice as number two offensive right half . . . Later, he was transferred to fullback and then switched on paper to a guard after the Blue-White Game . . . Agility demonstrated by fact he was leading scorer of conference as high school pivot man in basketball . . . Conference champion in shot put and discus . . . An honor student at Pineville High, he is studying Engineering at UK.

JIMMY (Demo) JOHNS—Senior—Morristown, Tenn.

A real competitor who was considered the Wildcats' regular right guard in 1958 despite the fact he started only half the games, Johns appears to have won the nod of his coaches to open at the same old stand this season . . . Competition from eager youngsters and the leg injury that bothered him much of last year may be factors in the degree of success he attains, but most observers are counting on his football savvy to carry him to a great year . . . Despite only average size for the position, the 5-11, 200-pound Tennessean has good speed and agility that pay off in blocking ability and an uncanny knack of cracking through the enemy defenses without getting trapped very often . . . Started five games last season and turned in 213:59 action time, almost identical to the 208:59 he played as a sophomore reserve and three-time starter . . . A third-team All-Stater at Morristown High, where he earned an unheard of total of six letters in football and one each in basketball and track, Johns was a standout regular with the undefeated UK frosh in '56 . . . Born on Armistice Day, 1937 . . . Enrolled in Commerce College.

PEARL (Junior) HAWTHORNE—Sophomore—Pomeroy, Ohio

Although he prefers to be called by his nickname, "Junior," and you might have a fight on your hands if you use his Christian name of Pearl, Hawthorne has sprakled like a jewel in his football career to date . . . The 6-1, 220-pound youth is regarded by UK coaches as one of the team's top young line prospects . . . He has excellent speed for his size and looks equally good on offense and defense . . . In four years of football at Pomeroy High, Hawthorne played tackle and fullback, captained his team two years, was its most valuable player and an All-America pick . . . He was outstanding as a tackle during his freshman season at UK last year . . . Moved to guard this spring and alternated with veteran regular Jimmy Johns on the combination unit . . . Won three letters in high school as a forward on the cage team and was All-Conference in track as a shot putter.

JAMES (Yar) YARBROUGH—Junior—Morganfield, Ky.

One of the state's outstanding schoolboy guard performers three years ago as he was named to various units of the All-State and All-America squads, Yarbrough (pronounced Yar-bro) should see extensive action this season . . . Played only 29 minutes in five games as a reserve right guard last year, but picked up valuable experience that should help him in '59 . . . The stockily-built (5-11, 195), straw-topped gridder was the number one right guard candidate on the offensive platoon in spring practice and likely will be a combination team front-line reserve this season . . . Instrumental in undefeated season achieved by UK freshmen two years back and especially impressive against Tennessee frosh.

ROBERT (Bob, Tally) TALAMINI—Senior—Louisville, Ky.

Called "one of the outstanding guards of the South" by Coach Collier, Talamini appears ready for a great final season . . . Made the Southeastern Conference checklist twice last season, following great efforts against Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt . . . He is considered the team's top offensive lineman, but likely will operate on the two-way combination unit due to invaluable experience . . . Regular left guard in 1958 with the most action time (387:43) to his credit of any man on the team . . . Started all but two games . . . He's a kickoff man as well . . . The 5-11, 215-pounder failed to create interest in college scouts during playing days as fullback, guard and tackle at Louisville St. Xavier High, although he did merit honorable mention on the All-State team . . . He got his break when he was picked to replace celebrated teammate Don McAllister (later at Notre Dame) when the latter couldn't play in the '56 East-

West Game at Lexington . . . Capitalizing on the opportunity, the stocky youngster of Italian descent turned in sparkling play in workouts and the game with the result that Coach Collier grabbed him off . . . Looked good as a freshman and two years ago saw action in every game plus starting two for 147:08 total . . . Although a late starter and a southpaw, Bob won a letter as a top-winning UK golfer last spring.

ART JANES—Junior—Louisville, Ky.

Although he still may lack all the qualities of stardom, Janes is fast coming into his true potential and Kentucky coaches are definitely counting on him this season as a linebacker . . . The 5-11, 195-pound Kentuckian, who was born in Harlan but received his schoolboy grid experience at Louisville St. Xavier, operated as the top man at left guard on the defensive platoon this spring . . . Started at LG for the Whites in spring intra-squad game . . . Played tackle and end under ex-Wildcat Johnny Meihaus at St. X and was a center candidate when he enrolled at UK in 1957 . . . Became starting guard before freshman year ended . . . Reserve at both guards last season, seeing 19:11 action time in five games . . . Achieved third highest academic standing on team last year with 3.16 (B plus) standing for 36 hours' work in Commerce . . . For second semester only, he made a near-perfect, 3.7 grade.

JON JURGENS—Sophomore—Newport, Ky.

Biggest of the guards at 6-4 and 205, Jurgens has a mobility stemming from good speed that makes him one of the top prospects at the position. . . . Jon alternated with regular left guard Bob Talamini on the combination unit last spring . . . Equally impressive on offense and defense . . . Coaches have been well pleased with his desire to be the best guard in camp and have great hopes that he will be just that before the season is out . . . Of German descent, the 18-year-old youngster graduated from Newport Catholic High where he played three seasons of football, captained the team and made honorable mention on the All-State list . . . He was a starter at guard in two of the three tilts played by UK's freshmen last year.

DONALD (Don) SINOR—Junior—Hazard, Ky.

Although born in Lothair, Ky., Don now calls the Eastern Kentucky coal mining community of Hazard his hometown . . . Hazard produced two of UK's outstanding athletes of last year—All-America basketballer Johnny Cox and football co-captain Bobby Lindon, both now graduated . . . Sinor is being called "potentially a top-flight football player" and may live up to the billing this season . . . He boasts a lot of ability and looked better after moving to guard last fall . . . Previously a tackle . . . Number one defensive right guard this spring . . . At Hazard High, Don was All-State and All-South as a tackle his final season . . . Honorable mention two other times in six years of football . . . Basketball center, shot and discus man in track . . . Won freshman numeral with action all three games as tackle . . . Picked up first varsity letter last season with 65:16 action time in six games as reserve right guard . . . Father in mining engineer in Venezuela . . . 6-1, 215 and PE major.

PASCAL (Lard) BENSON—Senior—Henderson, Ky.

At his best when the "chips are down" and the competition is the keenest and roughest in the exact sense, Benson is back at the position where he won his schoolboy fame . . . After duty as a center during his first year at UK, Pascal was moved over to guard to take advantage of his linebacking ability . . . Operated there throughout his sophomore year and much of last season, although he did see some action at center . . . Saw duty in all games and started five for total playing time of 181:10 . . . As a sophomore guard, he was in action 116:15 and missed only two games . . . The competition is stiff at the pivot position this season, but Benson should see a lot of duty. . . . Gained his initial football experience at Henderson City High where he was a center three years and picked up honors as team captain, first string All-State and honorable mention on the All-Southern and All-America selections . . . Surprisingly, in view of his almost squat appearance (6-1 and 210 now) and tremendously muscular legs, he also was an All-State basketball and .446 hitter on his schoolboy baseball team . . . A good field goal kicker, but missed his only try last season—a post-game attempt to break a scoreless deadlock with Vanderbilt . . . Majoring in physical education and plans to go into YMCA work.

FRANK (Andy) SCHOLLETT—Senior—Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Heir apparent to the center job as the most experienced hand at one of the team's strongest positions, but likely to find the assignment to starting duty even harder to earn than last year . . . Chief competition will come from soph Irv Goode, junior Lloyd Hodge and senior Pascal Benson . . . Few are discounting Frank's chances, however, as he saw action in all games last season and started the first four . . . Compiled an action time total of 191:04 . . . Made the checklist of outstanding Southeastern Conference players for work against Ga. Tech . . . Although he came to UK with outstanding recommendations and All-State honor to his credit, Schollett's rise to starting duty was a dramatic one . . . Going into the sixth game of his sophomore season two years ago, he had not yet seen varsity action when inserted by Coach Collier as a starter . . . Frank justified his coach's faith with an outstanding job that earned him sincere praise and two other starts before the season was over . . . A big boy at 6-4 and 215, Schollett also is intelligent as reflected by his IQ of 143 . . . Won a contested election this spring as vice-president of the Student Congress and chosen this summer as the outstanding cadet in ROTC summer camp at Ft. Knox from among more than 1,000 college students from all parts of the country . . . Studying industrial management . . . Born Detroit, Michigan . . . French and German ancestry.

ROBERT (Bob) FARRELL—Sophomore—Cincinnati, Ohio

The only Queen City product on the current Wildcat squad, Farrell is considered a very good prospect and should see some duty despite the lack of spring practice experience . . . Missed the spring work and intra-squad game due to an ankle injury . . . He was a top notch tackle and linebacker while prepping at Cincinnati Elder High . . . Tried at end as a UK freshman last season and switched to center for varsity play . . . Also an excellent pitcher and hitter in baseball, he posted a 7-0 record and hit .375 in leading Elder to the state schoolboy championship . . . Had a 1-1 pitching mark and .250 batting average with UK frosh baseballers this spring . . . Shows good size at 6-4, 205.

IRVIN (Irv) GOODE—Sophomore—Florence, Ky.

Already tabbed by Coach Collier as a "potential future All-American," Goode is being counted on for great things this season to live up to this unusual pre-varsity vote of confidence . . . The coach has made it clear that he is talking only in terms of Goode's potential, but observers saw fine possibilities in the 6-5, 220-pound youngster last season as a freshman and as rookie varsity man this spring . . . He operated as the number one center on the combination unit in spring workouts and started for the winning Blues in the spring intra-squad game . . . Considered a fine blocker and offensive man . . . Played only two years of high school football at Boone County High under veteran Coach Rice Mountjoy, but won highest honors: team captain, honorable mention and first team All-State, All-South and All-America . . . Also played one year of basketball and three seasons of track . . . Won a freshman track numeral last spring as a shot and discus man.

LLOYD HODGE—Junior—Whitesburg, Ky.

Called the team's best linebacker by Coach Collier and winner of consistent praise for his fine showings in spring practice, Hodge seems destined for an even greater year than his sophomore campaign . . . Changed over from fullback to center this spring and proved himself a real tough defensive man with promise of developing into one of Kentucky's greatest linebackers . . . He has good size (5-10 and 200 pounds) and speed necessary for the job . . . A viscous tackler . . . Hodge was an alternate fullback starter last season . . . Gained starting nods against two of toughest opponents—Auburn and LSU—and had total action time of 153:19 while playing in all games . . . Posted a very creditable, 5.6 rushing average on 20 carries . . . Suffered bruised hip in late season . . . At Whitesburg High, he compiled an almost incredible record in averaging 250 yards per game and scoring 140 points . . . All-State . . . Also participant in basketball, track and baseball.

JOHN SLACK—Junior—Newport, Ky.

Although he is the son of a Baptist minister, Slack is far from being an advocate of turning the other cheek when up against a tough opponent on the gridiron . . . He is a hard man to deal with and should see considerable action this season as a reserve center on the combination unit . . . Needs more actual "battle" experience to qualify him for regular duty in the face of stiff competition . . . Slowed down in development by shoulder injury as freshman and saw only 4:24 action in two games last year as a soph reserve center . . . The 6-2, 200-pound youngster won three letters as an end at Newport Public High and was an honorable mention All-State selection . . . Top schoolboy shot put man of northern Kentucky region . . . German-Polish ancestry . . . Once planned to become mortician, but now enrolled in Education College . . . Born Louisville, Ky.

MARK THOMPSON—Sophomore—Franklin, Ky.

Hard work, aggressive attitude and ability plus adequate size of 6-2 and 205 pounds make Thompson a man to be reckoned with seriously when the duties are assigned this fall . . . There is stiff competition to be conquered in the center corps, but he could surprise . . . Ranked as number one man at center on the offensive unit in spring workouts . . . He was an All-Conference fullback in high school at Franklin-Simpson . . . Switched to center as a UK freshman and showed up well, especially against Tennessee's Baby Vols . . . Recovered two Tennessee fumbles that led to the Kittens' only scores in a 12-6 win last year . . . Born in Louisville . . . Also attended Castle Heights Military Academy in Lebanon, Tenn., one year . . . Enrolled in Education College and made 2.83 standing for 33 hours last year.

QUARTERBACKS

LEEMAN BENNETT—Junior—Paducah, Ky.

Coaches and spectators, alike, have nothing but praise for Bennett . . . They admit he has ability, knows the game and moves the team well despite the fact that he is not a great mechanical passer . . . Stiff competition from men with just a little more ability has kept him just shy of consistent duty . . . He had a fine spring practice this year, showing up well as the number one quarterback of the defensive unit, and should see even more important duty than he has in the past . . . May still rank behind Hughes and Eisaman as an offensive operative, but it's a good bet that a place will be found for him . . . Came to Kentucky in 1956 from Paducah Tilghman High, the school that produced ex-Wildcat star Bob Hardy, where he was an honorable mention All-State selection . . . After an outstanding performance with the UK freshmen, Bennett was red-shirted in '57 to give him a better chance to develop without wasting a year of eligibility behind more experienced signal callers . . . Last season, he saw 109:54 action time in seven games, starting against Miss. State and Vandy . . . Passing record of completing eight out of 15 for 94 yards ranked him 27th in SEC . . . Started for the Whites in spring intra-squad game . . . In high school, he also played basketball and ran on the track team . . . Enrolled in College of Commerce, he is six foot, 182 and a letterman.

GERALD (Jerry) EISAMAN—Junior—Bethel, Pa.

Called one of the country's best passers by Coach Collier, Eisaman has been handicapped in his UK career by a lack of experience at play selection and by injuries . . . The 6-1, 195-pound junior and long-ball thrower extraordinary may find himself in a pressure-filled role as the team's number one quarterback this season if a knee operation should handicap regular signal caller Lowell Hughes, to whom he has been an understudy for two seasons . . . More poised and experienced than a year ago after having worked as number one quarterback in place of Hughes during spring practice . . . With Hughes ready to go, as is expected, Eisaman still rates virtually equal billing and gives the Wildcats one of the most dangerous aerial combos in the nation . . . Both completed over 50 per cent of their tosses last season, Eisaman standing seventh in the Southeastern Conference on 30 completions in 53 attempts for 449 yards and three TD's . . . Had only two passes intercepted . . . Adding 83 additional yards on the ground, he stood 13th in the league in total offense as well . . . Also second on the team in scoring (18 points) and second in punting (33.3 average) . . . Probable punter this year as kicking showed improvement in spring practice . . . An almost unheralded prize package from the western Pennsylvania hotbed of football talent, Eisaman is called one of the brightest lights on the Kentucky football scene since the fabulous Babe Parilli came down from Pennsylvania to lead the Wildcats to three bowl appearances and their greatest era in the grid sport . . . Never named to All-State or All-America teams while at Bethel High . . . After looking very good as a UK freshman in 1956, Jerry began to run into an injury jinx that has dogged him ever since . . . Just before the opening game in '57, he suffered a shoulder separation and was held out that season to allow complete recovery . . . Early last year, while returning to the campus from vacation between semesters, he received a minor fracture to the lower spine resulting from an auto accident in Ohio . . . Came back last season, after sitting out spring practice, to play 172:27 in nine games . . . Got starting assignment against LSU's eventual national champions . . . This spring, he suffered a cut forehead in a locker room accident but managed to turn in a good spring practice . . . Passed for one TD and two conversions and scored once himself in leading Blues to victory in spring game . . . An All-SEC Sophomore Team selection last year . . . He was star participant in one of year's oddest plays . . . Against arch-rival Tennessee, he reversed the trend of a close game by stealing the ball from the clutches of fullback Carl Smith while on the run . . . The unusual action set up the touchdown that enabled UK to take a 6-2 victory and earned him the title of "Pennsylvania Pick-pocket" . . . Enrolled in Education College.

LOWELL HUGHES—Senior—Prestonsburg, Ky.

The big question mark in Kentucky's offensive operations for 1959 . . . Veteran of two seasons as the regular signal caller, Hughes' role in the coming season will depend on the degree of recovery from a spring knee operation . . . Late condition reports offered high hope that he will be physically ready after spending much of the summer building the knee up by running and using weights . . . Injury occurred in Auburn game last fall and could have cost UK a chance to tie the mighty Tigers . . . Hughes saw more action during the season and then re-injured the knee while playing varsity basketball . . . Missed remainder of cage season and spring grid practice this year after having the knee operated on . . . Expressing the value of the level-headed, versatile performer, Coach Collier says of Hughes: "He may not be a great long passer, but he is capable of more than holding his own with any in the South as a passer and he is a fine safety man." . . . Follows in footsteps of brother, Delmar, who was UK's regular quarterback in his final season of 1956 . . . One of the most widely-sought backfield prospects in the country as a record-breaking schoolboy All-America quarterback at Prestonsburg High from 1951-55 . . . Rewrote most of the passing records of the state that had been authored by Delmar and ranked as one of the 10 leading schoolboy passers of the nation. . . . In his last three seasons, he posted a fabulous completion average of 68.8 per cent, accounted for 3,482 yards and 36 touchdowns . . . Personal scoring total reached 323 points . . . Coming to Kentucky in 1956, he highlighted a three-game freshman season by tossing two touchdown passes to lead the Kittens to a 19-0 victory over the Tennessee freshmen . . . Became a starter in his sophomore campaign and turned in performances that ranked him at season's end as the fourth best passer in the Southeastern Conference . . . Chosen on the All-SEC Sophomore Team . . . Despite increased pressure stemming from the departure of his chief competitor, Kenny Robertson, Hughes looked equally good last season as a junior . . . Although he injured his knee in the Auburn game, had the flu after the LSU game and sprained an ankle the week of the Miss. State game, he managed to throw 302:11 action time in nine games (missed only the Miss. State tilt) and was the starter in seven . . . Ranked eighth in SEC in passing, completing 36 of 72 for 437 yards . . . Fifteenth in SEC total offense . . . He has fine running ability, outstanding punter and excellent defensive strategist . . . Hughes was a member of Kentucky's NCAA champion cage squad two years ago and played last season until re-injuring his knee . . . He's a "B" student in Commerce.

One of two rookies coming up from last year's undefeated freshman team to put pressure on the Wildcats' veteran quarterback contingent, Rampulla looks capable from the standpoint of ability but needs seasoning and confidence that comes with practice . . . Should get experience he needs this year and be ready to help importantly in '60 . . . Average in speed, good passer and deft ball handler . . . Looked good running the team as a freshman last season . . . Engineered 59-yard drive leading to UK frosh team's only score and a 6-6 tie with Vanderbilt yearlings . . . A good student, he showed a 3.2 standing (B plus) in his Commerce College studies second semester last year . . . Six-foot and 185, Rampulla attended Archbishop Curley High and St. Leo Prep in hometown Miami and achieved honorable mention All-State honors . . . Italian descent.

WILLIAM (Bill, Mousie) STRAUB—Sophomore—Ft. Thomas, Ky.

With size of 5-10 and 170 pounds that belies his inner toughness and ability, Bill is a capable student of the game who should see spot action this season . . . Despite his small stature, the schoolboy honorable mention All-State choice closed his initial year as a collegian as the Kitten's leading passer and number one punter . . . In three games, he connected on five of 11 attempts for 78 yards and was credited with the longest strike by a freshman last season as he threw a 43-yarder against Vanderbilt's yearlings . . . Punting average stood at 42.6 with one 55-yard boot in the Vandy game. . . . Coaches have a high regard for the football knowledge of the former Ft. Thomas Highlands High star . . . Also played basketball and baseball in high school, earning six letters . . . A "B" student in College of Education.

JOSEPH (Joe) BRUECK—Junior—Brookhaven, Miss.

Another quarterback with plenty of natural ability who has been handicapped by having to battle stiff competition at his position, Brueck is not one to give up easily and should be heard from in an important reserve role again this year . . . Biggest drawbacks are erratic passing ability and lack of desirable speed, but he almost makes up for this in effort . . . Came to UK with a high school background of four grid letters, four in basketball and six in baseball at Brookhaven High . . . All-State and a member of All-America squad . . . The 6-1, 175-pound junior won his numeral as a freshman gridder in '56, was held out of competition the following season. . . . In 1958, he saw 12:54 action time in three games . . . Should improve on that time this season . . . Proved competitive spirit by hurling the javelin 211 feet last spring to rank best in the Southeastern Conference for several weeks despite a lack of previous track experience . . . Married to the sister of '55 UK end Joe Johnson . . . Enrolled in College of Education.

HALFBACKS

DONALD (Don) CARSON—Sophomore—Oneida, Tenn.

Along with teammate Dennis Sexton, who operates at end, Carson seeks to become the first Oneida athlete ever to pick up a football letter at Kentucky and the chances are good that he will do just that either this season or next . . . Considered a fine prospect . . . He played quarterback for the Kentucky freshmen last season, then moved to halfback this spring and continues to do a lot of things well . . . Needs experience and may be a year away from consistent duty . . . Operated as number two right half on combination unit in spring workouts . . . Posted fifth highest standing on the team by showing a "B" average in the College of Arts and Sciences for freshman year . . . A wiry 5-11 and 180, Carson played quarterback four years at Oneida and was a guard on the cage team.

PROFILE OF AN ALL-AMERICA CANDIDATE

CALVIN BIRD

Calvin (Thunder) Bird, appropriately tagged bolt of greased lightning who totes a terrific pigskin, stands out as one of the South's top hopes for All-America laurels in '59 and, at the same time, is one of the region's greatest gridiron enigmas.

The puzzling aspect of the flashy Wildcat halfback's career stems from the fact that he never was a consistent regular for Kentucky in his soph campaign last year, starting only four games and averaging only 25 minutes of action a game, and yet was accorded the singular honor of Southeastern Conference "Sophomore of the Year."

Despite the fact that he performed in a reserve role, the 190-pound Bird earned every bit of the recognition that came to him. The achievements read like genuine qualifications for All-America candidacy. He led the power-packed conference in pass receiving with 21 catches for 373 yards and four touchdowns. He was beaten out in the final week of the season (when Kentucky had already finished) for the league scoring crown after setting the pace for several weeks. His final point total, good for second in the SEC and ninth in the nation, was 65 and included 10 TD's plus five extra point conversions. Bird also ranked high in several other departments and tied the SEC record for passes caught in one game as he hauled in 10 against Mississippi last season.

With a chance to see starting duty and considerably more action this season made possible by the graduation of one halfback starter and the shift of the other to fullback, even greater things are expected of the more experienced youngster.

Bird will operate at left half on the combination or two-way unit and that very placement, a surprise to some who think of him only as an offensive star, indicates Coach Collier's high regard of his star as an all-around performer. "Calvin is at his best as an explosive runner, no doubt about that," Collier explains, "but he also is a fine blocker and much improved in all phases of defensive play."

Although unselfish by nature in helping out the team effort in every possible way, speed always has been the crowd-pleasing trademark of Bird. He is gifted with a beautifully-coordinated gait and a shifty maneuver that leaves would-be tacklers clutching at thin air much of the time.

As a schoolboy standout at Corbin in the Eastern Kentucky mountains, Bird first displayed his penchant for making touchdowns as he established a new state scoring record of 268 points in his final year and won a place on the high school All-America team in addition to gaining the honorary captaincy of the All-State squad.

He was phenomenal as a Kentucky freshman in 1957, posting an 11.2 rushing average and leading the yearlings in scoring, pass receiving, kickoff returns and total offense.

Football is Bird's first love, but he also was an outstanding basketball player, track man and baseball star in high school. A brother, Jerry, starred with the Wildcat cage team from 1954 to 1957.

JAMES (Buzzy) BEST—Sophomore—Elizabethtown, Ky.

One of the speediest backs up from last season's undefeated freshman team, Buzzy should be heard from this season . . . Handicapped in development by minor injuries in spring workouts and missed Blue-White intra-squad game . . . Good size and aggressive . . . He is six-foot, 190 . . . Although carrying the ball only five times as a UK freshman last season, he picked up 76 yards to show a remarkable, 17.2 average and rank third in total yardage among Kitten ball carriers . . . Longest run was a 66-yard touchdown gallop against Cincinnati frosh . . . He was team's best kickoff return man with a 16-yard average runback . . . Early in spring practice, Best operated as the number one left half on the offensive unit . . . Father is a photographer and parents live in Cocoa Beach, Fla., only a few miles from the site of UK's 1950 Orange Bowl training camp . . . Born Harrodsburg, Ky., but attended Elizabethtown High and played six years of football, three in track.

A former schoolboy All-America quarterback who transferred to Kentucky last year from Purdue, Chapman has put in his year on the bench required under NCAA rules and should be ready to help this season . . . He has been shifted from quarterback to halfback . . . An All-State first team selection in Indiana and All-America during three years as a quarterback at Richmond High . . . Also played basketball and baseball in high school. . . . Father, Glenn, is former major league baseball player and Dave has ambitions of following in his dad's footsteps . . . The 5-11, 180-pound youth is a "B" student in Education College.

BILL RANSDELL—Sophomore—Elizabethtown, Ky.

Tabbed by Wildcat coaches as possibly the best of the current crop of sophomores, Ransdell won consistent praise from Coach Collier for his good work in spring practice . . . He operated as the team's number one defensive left half in off-season workouts and proved himself not only capable but surprisingly tough for his 6-1, 180-pound size . . . Greatest attributes are exceptional speed and balance plus being a willing learner when instructions are given by the coaches . . . Considered one of the squad's most versatile men since he is a good ball carrier and passer-ball handler as well as defensive man and likely could see some spot duty at quarterback on occasion. . . . Also a good punter who posted a 38.6 average as a freshman last season while quarterbacking the Kittens to an undefeated campaign . . . Picked up a track numeral as a standout dash man for the Kentucky freshmen this spring . . . Born in Louisville, but educated at Elizabethtown High . . . Due to the fact that he was only a second team All-State selection, Bill is something of a surprise package. . . . Also a track man and cage performer at Elizabethtown . . . Father is a dentist in E'town . . . Enrolled Education College.

JAMES (Red) HILL—Sophomore—Neon, Ky.

A red-headed, aggressive speedster who best exemplifies the term "hard-nose" applied by coaches to tough football players who thrive on competition . . . Came to Kentucky last year with a reputation as one of Letcher County's all-time greats . . . He was a first team All-Stater in the 1957 selections and honored on the All-South and All-America squads as a full-back . . . A four-sport standout, the 6-1, 190-pound Hill picked up 14 letters by adding track, baseball and basketball to a sparkling list of achievements . . . Switching to right half as a Kentucky freshman last season, Red was the Kittens' leading pass receiver and punt return man . . . Showed up well in spring work this year before an injury sidelined him . . . He is a "B" student in Education with plans to coach after graduation.

CHARLES (Charlie, Chester) STURGEON—Junior—Owensboro, Ky.

A power-type runner who might be the best all-around runner on the team, Sturgeon is pegged for a starting job at right half on the combination unit replacing fellow hometown Bobby Cravens . . . Styles of the two are strikingly similar and Wildcat coaches are hopeful that Sturgeon will exceed the accomplishments of his star predecessor . . . "Chester," as he is called by teammates, operated as the number two man at the position last season and saw 177:53 action time in all contests . . . Had his only starting assignment against Auburn . . . Fourth on the team in rushing gain with 164 yards picked up on 46 carries for a 3.5 average . . . Caught seven passes and punted for 34.2 average . . . Did not score last year after tallying three times as a freshman . . . Coach Collier also praises Sturgeon's defensive ability, listing him as the team's best sideback . . . As a four-year gridman at Owensboro Senior High, he gained first team All-State honor and was selected to various units of the All-South and All-America teams . . . Played high school basketball, track and baseball in addition to four years of football . . . He is stockily built, again something on the order of Cravens, at 5-11, 192 pounds . . . Enrolled in College of Education, but may try a business career in preference to coaching or pro ball . . . His father is a car dealer in Owensboro.

WILLIAM (Bill) SMITH—Sophomore—Paducah, Ky.

Kentucky's football team may be short handed in sheer man power this fall, but Coach Collier is gaining a large degree of solace out of the fact that he will be able to call on a considerable amount of brain power in tight situations with Smith available . . . The former Paducah Tilghman half-back registered a near-perfect 3.87 standing for his freshman year and won outstanding recognition by making the highest raw score on a national chemistry test of any UK student in the past four years . . . Majoring in physics. . . . He takes his smartness to the football field with him too and counts on it to help him see considerable reserve action this season . . . Captained both the grid and track teams at Tilghman and was a third team All-State selection plus state broad jump champ . . . Won UK freshman track numeral as broad jumper and 440 man.

RICHARD (Rich) WRIGHT—Senior—Nappanee, Ind.

Wildcat coaches are hopeful that this will be the year Wright returns to the form he displayed as a sophomore fullback in 1957 and, if it is, he could well be the darkhorse of the halfback corps . . . Early in that season two years ago, Rich seemed to be improving with every minute of action only to suffer a knee injury in the Georgia game (his first start) that caused his retirement for remaining games . . . Never has re-gained his previous offensive form although knee healed perfectly and he is called a good blocker and exceptionally hard tackler . . . Good size at six-foot and 200 pounds and good speed . . . Moved to halfback this spring after three years of fullback duty and operated as the number one offensive right half in workouts . . . Could be a halfback-fullback swing man when needed . . . Saw 189 minutes of action time in eight games, including four starts, as fullback last year . . . He was All-State at Nappanee High and mentioned on the All-America squad . . . Also dash man in track and basketball forward . . . Born in Elkhart, Ind., and father is funeral director in Nappanee.

TOMMY (Rocky, Tom) HUNDLEY—Junior—Johnson City, Tenn.

One of Tennessee's leading prepsters three years ago, Hundley surprised a lot of the experts who said he wasn't big enough to stand out in college ball . . . Although only 5-11 and 170 pounds, Tom has proved he can take punishment and dish it out . . . Came to UK as a quarterback, the position which earned him honors ranging from first team All-Tennessee to All-America mention while a schoolboy . . . He was top ground gainer among freshman signal callers two years back and also posted the best punting average, a feat he repeated last season with a 41-yards-per-try on three kicks . . . Saw only 21:48 action time in five games as a reserve left half and did not letter, but showed up much better this spring as he alternated with Calvin Bird on the combination unit . . . Born in Cleveland, Ohio, and attended Science Hill High in Johnson City, Tenn. . . . Hobbies are art and wood work.

NICK NORCIA—Sophomore—Owensboro, Ky.

Considered too small for collegiate football when he graduated from Owensboro Catholic High in 1955, Norcia spent the next three years in service with the Army in the European Theatre and proved it's sometimes hard to keep a little man down . . . The 5-7, 175-pound veteran was able to make only the honorable mention list on the All-State selections during two years of schoolboy play as a halfback-fullback, but showed his courage with great play in service ball while stationed in Germany . . . Gained over 1,000 yards in his last year overseas . . . Justified the faith of UK coaches, who gave him a grid scholarship when he got out of the Army, by becoming the second leading ball carrier for the '58 freshmen . . . In three games, he picked up 89 yards on 17 carries for a 5.2 average . . . Showed up well in spring practice as number one right half on the defensive unit . . . Nick has worked his way past a bit of scholastic trouble and should help the Wildcats this season . . . Born Canton, Ohio . . . Italian descent . . . A cousin plays with the Cleveland Browns and an uncle is with a Canadian pro football team.

JAMES (Jim, Mumbles) READER—Junior—Louisville, Ky.

As a reserve right half during his sophomore campaign last year, Reader never quite hit the stride expected of him and is one of the big question marks for the coming season . . . It is uncertain how much his development has been set back by a severe hepatitis illness this summer . . . Sickness hit him late in spring practice and he missed Blue-White intra-squad game . . . Had shown marked improvement in running ability earlier in workouts . . . Although he saw only 19:53 action time, all in the season opener, and did not earn a varsity letter last year, Reader is being counted on at right half . . . As a schoolboy, he led his Louisville St. Xavier football team to the 1956 mythical state championship and gained second string All-honors . . . Coached at St. X in football and track by ex-Wildcat Johnny Meihaus . . . Commerce major . . . 6-1, 195.

GARY COCHRAN—Sophomore—Etowah, Tenn.

One of the top freshman prospects at the time he broke a wrist last season, Cochran has been hindered in his development by a lack of contact work but should be ready to provide some help this season . . . Looked promising this spring in workouts and the intra-squad game . . . Good speed and size (5-11, 200) . . . Owner of a 10.3 average rushing gain as a schoolboy fullback at Ft. Thomas (Ky.) Highlands . . . He was captain of his team and a second team All-State pick . . . Also leading scorer with 130 points . . . Participated in basketball and track after the grid season at Highlands . . . Won a track numeral as shot and discus man with UK frosh last spring . . . Born Corbin, Ky. . . . Enrolled in College of Education and plans to coach.

WILLIAM (Bill) ELKINS—Sophomore—Jenkins, Ky.

A promising flankman as a Kentucky freshman last season, Elkins has been shifted to fullback to take advantage of his running ability . . . Operated as the number two fullback on the offensive unit in spring workouts . . . Should see some action in relief this season . . . He was a third team All-State fullback as a schoolboy gridman at Jenkins High, scoring 86 points and picking up approximately 1,400 yards in his final two seasons . . . Also participated in basketball, track and baseball . . . Tied for top batting honors on the Kentucky freshman baseball team this spring with a .400 average . . . Alternated between first base and the outfield . . . Father is a coal miner . . . Bill posted a respectable 2.69 average in Engineering last year.

JAMES (Jim, Tank) FISHER—Junior—Morganfield, Ky.

Although he failed to put in enough action time last season as a sophomore to earn a varsity letter, Fisher is being counted on by the coaching staff to lend important relief support at the fullback post this season . . . He has good size (six foot and 205 pounds) and the speed to operate adequately . . . Played behind Shaw on the combination unit in spring practice . . . Second leading ground gainer for losing Whites in Blue-White intra-squad game . . . During '58 season, he totaled 23:34 action in three games as a reserve fullback . . . Honorable mention All-State in five years of football at Morganfield . . . Dutch ancestry . . . Enrolled in Education College and plans to coach.

JIMMY (Jimbow) POYNTER—Junior—Danville, Ky.

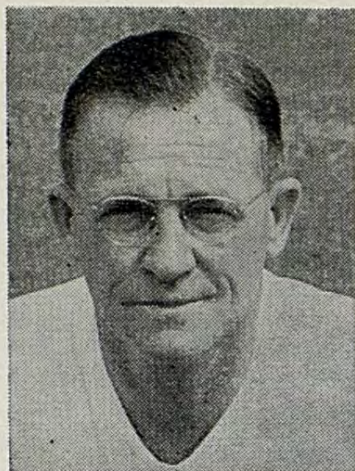

A former all-sports standout at Danville, a small town only a 30-minute drive from the UK campus, Poynter is not big as fullbacks go but makes up for lack of exceptional size by being what coaches call a "hard-nose" football player . . . He's the smallest of the men at his position, checking in at 5-11 and 185, but a tough little tackler who is due to see plenty of service this season . . . Number one fullback on the defensive unit in spring practice and looked good . . . Started for Whites in spring intra-squad game. . . . Saw only limited action (19:34) in four games last year as a reserve left half . . . First varsity start came against eventual national champ LSU and he racked up a 12-yard jaunt on his only carry . . . Bothered by knee injury some last year . . . Switched to his All-State high school position of fullback in spring . . . Won his first major "K" in track as shot put man. . . . Enrolled in College of Education . . . Married to a hometown girl.

GLENN EDD SHAW—Senior—Paducah, Ky. (CO-CAPTAIN)

Switched this spring from left half to fullback in a major experiment, Co-Captain-elect Shaw has shown every indication that the position may be a natural for him and that he may well turn into one of the South's finest . . . Plagued much of his sophomore and junior seasons by injuries, he never has reached the heights expected after a sensational freshman campaign in 1956 in which he posted a terrific 11.7 rushing average . . . One of the big aims of the shift in position for Shaw was to allow junior speed merchant Calvin Bird, alternate left half last season, to see regular duty, but it may prove an even bigger boon for Shaw himself and the team interest . . . Glenn Edd is big (215 pounds on a 6-1 frame), strong, speedy and likes to run over people just as well as around them . . . He can power his way up the middle or swing wide . . . Had the team's longest run last season, a 56-yard jaunt against Mississippi

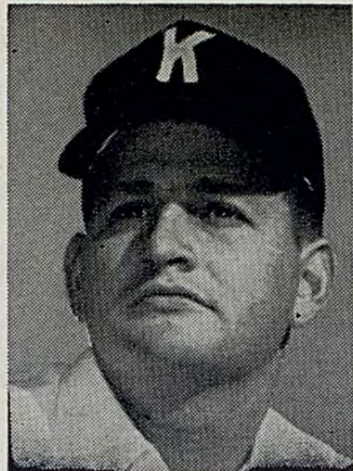

State . . . Started six games at left half and saw total action time of 287:29 in all games . . . Ranked 10th in the Southeastern Conference as a ground gainer in 1958 with 367 net yards on 69 trips for a 5.3 average . . . Second only to graduated right half Bobby Cravens in the UK rushing picture, repeating his sophomore year standing . . . Started seven games as soph. . . . Called the team's best blocking back by Coach Collier and considered a good defensive man as well . . . Will operate on the combination unit . . . Led the '58 Wildcats in the punt return department and was second in kick-off and pass interception return yardage . . . A good student as well, he made "B" standing in Commerce spring semester . . . Accorded only third team All-State honors while a schoolboy fullback-halfback-quarterback at Paducah Tilghman, but made the All-America selections . . . Set state high school shot put record and continues as outstanding collegian in the event during off season.

BUSTER BROWN—Equipment Manager: Handling the duties of handing out approximately $10,000 worth of football gear to the team is a seasoned veteran, S. C. (Buster) Brown. After wartime work as a stevedore on the West Coast, Buster returned to Kentucky and his old job in 1952.

KEN KUHN—Publicity Director: A veteran of 11 years in the job of publicizing Wildcat football and other sports activities of UK, Kuhn came to Lexington via Michigan State from which he was graduated in 1942 and later served as an assistant in the Public Relations Department. Before moving over to the Athletic Department in 1948, he worked two years as News Editor in UK's Department of Public Relations. JOHN (Rusty) PAYNE—Trainer: John first came in contact with Kentucky football when he helped out his predecessor, Smoky Harper, during the Wildcats' pre-Sugar Bowl practice on the Louisiana State campus in 1950. After graduating from LSU that year, the red-haired Arkansas native spent two years in the Marine Corps at Paris Island and Quantico, serving much of the time as athletic trainer. THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

Located in Lexington, a community of over 100,000 population, UK is a state-supported institution which operates under the direction of a Board of Trustees. Membership of this Board includes the Governor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the Commissioner of Agriculture, ex officio, and twelve members appointed by the Governor, three of whom are alumni of the University and three members of the State Board of Agriculture. It is one of a number of institutions known as land-grant colleges, which were established by the Morrill Act of 1862.

At the start of the 1956-57 school year, the University marked a milestone in its history as a change of chief administrative officers took place. Dr. Frank Graves Dickey, youthful former dean of the UK College of Education and a firm believer in the value of athletics, became the 92-year-old institution's fifth president succeeding venerable Herman L. Donovan.

Dr. Frank G. Dickey, President

The major function of the University is that of instruction, although great benefits to the citizens of the state are derived from research and special services. For instructional purposes, the University is organized into eight colleges, a Graduate School, and a Northern Extension Center at Covington. Other off-campus centers are planned to better serve the state and relieve some of the pressure on the Lexington campus caused by rapid growth of the student body. The colleges are Arts and Sciences, Agriculture and Home Economics, Engineering, Commerce, Education, Law, Pharmacy and Adult and Extension Education.

The 1956 session of the state Legislature also authorized, at the request of Governor A. B. Chandler, the beginning of a Medical School and plans call for a first class to be accepted in 1960.

The University is on the approved list of the Association of American Universities and is a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. It is fully accredited in its respective colleges and departments by all of the major professional societies and educational associations.

The University began as a part of Kentucky University under a co-operative plan authorized by the Legislature in 1865. The purpose of this plan was to unite sectarian and public education under one organization. This experiment was tried for a number of years. In the meantime, the federal funds authorized under the Morrill Act were used to develop agriculture and mechanical arts in Kentucky University. In 1878, when the people of Kentucky decided to establish a state institution of higher learning, the College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts was separated from Kentucky University and reestablished on land given by the City of Lexington and the County of Fayette. Thirty years later the Legislature changed the name of the institution to the State University of Kentucky, and gave it additional financial support. In 1916 the name was again changed, this time to the present title.

VICTORY KICKS

A game unique in University of Kentucky football history occurred in 1900. Kentucky beat the Louisville YMCA, 12-6, without running a single offensive play during the entire game. Kicking on first down every time they gained possession of the ball, Kentucky made its scores through the recovery of opponent fumbles in the end zone.
